American Cigar Factory Closed Down Thursday

Employees Notified Services No Longer Needed—Factory Is For Sale—Plant Established Here by Late George J. Smith Nearly 100 Years Ago.

The American Cigar Company factory at Broadway and Pine Grove avenue was closed on Thursday and the employees at the plant were notified that their services would be no longer needed. The factory, one of the largest cigar factories in this vicinity, is said to be for sale. The price asked for the plant is not known. At the time the plant closed down there were about two hundred employed.

The factory was erected nearly fifty years ago and was conducted under the name of the Powell, Smith & Company. The late Congressman George J. Smith was the man responsible for the erecting of the factory here and for many years was identified with the business.

Of late years the factory has not been running full force. During its early years over a thousand were employed at the plant and it was necessary to erect a new four-story brick addition on Pine Grove avenue, which is now occupied by W. Davis Hawk, radio and electrical supply house.

The lower floor of the plant on Broadway has been occupied for a number of years by the Talcott Box Manufacturing Company.

For several years past the cigar factory was operated by the American Tobacco Company, of which the American Cigar Company is a subsidiary.

Superintendent Morris Schlesinger, who has been in charge of the factory for the past twenty-three years, when questioned about the closing of the factory, stated that he had received orders to close down the plant, and that action had been taken Thursday. It is understood that all of the employees were notified to seek jobs elsewhere as the factory would not be reopened.

BANK ROBBER AND OFFICER DIE IN GUN BATTLE

Shawnee, Okla., Nov. 8 (AP)—The termination of an alleged bank robbery to "shoot it out" rather than face a possible death sentence, in court had resulted today in his own death and that of one of two officers with whom he waged a short but bloody gun battle.

Robbery with firearms is a capital offense in Oklahoma. Court have indicted life terms recently for minor robberies of that character and police had heard that Owen Edwards, sought for complicity in bank holdups at Prague, Kendrick and Mingo, Okla., had threatened to die shooting rather than face an end in the electric chair.

"He won't do it," they said. So last night when four officers surrounded a house near Harjo, Okla., where Edwards was reported hiding, James A. Kiersey, 39, veteran assistant chief of police at Seminole, Okla., entered the house and ordered the fugitive to put up his hands.

Edwards replied with bullets and Kiersey fell mortally wounded by three shots from two automatic pistols. Claude Tyler fired from a doorway behind Kiersey and Edwards dropped. He died almost immediately.

DEPORT 54, MOSTLY POTATO DIGGERS FROM CANADA

Bangor, Me., Nov. 8 (AP)—Indicted by a federal grand jury on charges of illegal entry into the United States, 54 men, mostly from the Canadian provinces, languished today in an overcrowded jail here.

Forty-one of them faced one-day sentences and speedy deportation. Similar sentences of the remaining 13 expired today and they were to be transported to the border and escorted across.

The wholesale indictments yesterday, the largest number ever returned for the same cause at a single time by the United States district court, was the outgrowth of a round-up by immigration agents of aliens drawn to the Aroostook county potato harvest by the lure of high wages.

SENATOR NORRIS KNOCKED DOWN BY AUTOMOBILE

Washington, Nov. 8 (AP)—Although suffering from injuries received in an automobile accident, Senator George W. Norris of Nebraska today clung to his accustomed place as an active leader of the Democratic-Independent Republican coalition in its fight against the proposed tariff bill.

The Nebraska received injuries which he himself described as "painful but not serious," when knocked to the ground by an automobile last Saturday as he was walking from the Capitol to the Senate office building.

Suspected to 30 Days

Convicted on a charge of petit larceny Elmer Hummel, aged 18, of Kravine is serving a full sentence of 30 days at the Ulster county jail. Hummel was arrested Thursday by State Trooper Daly and Deputy Sheriff Northington H. Black for stealing a battery from John Turner of Rochester. He was taken before Justice of the Peace Jeremiah Sheehan, who imposed the sentence.

Heavy Snow and Biting Cold in 5 Western States

Denver, Nov. 8 (AP)—Snow which yesterday laid a white blanket over five western states, ranging from three inches to two feet in depth, had stopped falling over most of the territory this morning and prophecies of rising temperatures and clear skies promised a respite from the biting cold which swept down out of the Rocky Mountains three days ago.

King Winter apparently established his headquarters near the Kansas-Colorado line and wreaked havoc with the activities of beet sugar growers, while bringing a precious gift of needed moisture to the winter wheat region.

Goodman, Kansas, reported two feet of snow today and highways still were falling, highways were blocked, and livestock suffered through isolation from food supplies. Plans for an American Legion Armistice Day celebration were cancelled because of drifted roads.

Although not so seriously affected, all of Colorado, New Mexico, Wyoming and Montana were mantled with white. Temperatures were below normal.

Snow, rain and falling temperatures were predicted today for eastern Kansas, Missouri, Oklahoma and Texas.

"Stop the Music At Three A. M."

So That Eligible Young Men Can Dance and Still Work Next Day Is Advice of 70 Mothers.

New York, Nov. 8 (AP)—A band of 70 mothers of this year's crop of debutantes is intent on a 3 a. m. curfew.

"Stop the music at three o'clock in the morning," is their slogan in the crusade to discourage dancing till dawn, and later among the younger set whose parties their daughters will attend this season.

The expectation is that eligible young men now can attend parties and still go to work next day.

Seating the guests promptly at the designated hour no matter who or how many are late is to be the silent rebuke for the stragglers who keep dinner waiting.

Ways and means to carry on the campaign were discussed yesterday at a meeting at the home of Mrs. Seth M. Milliken in Madison avenue.

Mrs. John Henry Hammond, president of the New York Parents' League, said at the meeting:

"The movement for early hours now on trial in New York is being watched by junior and parents' leagues all over the country. It is up to us to make it fashionable to have early hours."

Y's Men's Clubs Meet Saturday

The Kingston Y's Men's Club at their regular meeting Tuesday evening at the "Y" had the pleasure of hearing of the fine work being performed by the Y's Men's Club in far off Czech-Slovakia as they had as their guest and main speaker of the evening Mr. Durkee who for the past ten years was the National Y. M. C. A. secretary of that country and at the present time is spending his time traveling around New York state in the interest of the foreign work of the Y. M. C. A.

It was a real inspiration to the local Y's Men to learn how highly the Y's Men's Club was considered in that country.

Clarence Dumm, chairman of the "Dad and Boy Committee," for the coming annual Father and Son Banquet to be held Friday evening, November 16th, at the "Y" spoke briefly urging the men to support this annual affair.

The club voted to send a young high school boy to the coming Older Boys Conference to be held in Rochester on November 29 to December 1.

Final plans were made for the Eastern District Conference of Y's Men's Clubs to be held in Kingston this Saturday afternoon commencing at two o'clock and ending with a banquet in the evening with an address by their District Governor Fay Rowley of Binghamton, N. Y.

Every Y's Man was urged to attend the conference and banquet. As this will be the first Y's Men's conference ever held in Kingston every effort is being made to make it an outstanding success.

The dinner was up to the usual high standard as prepared by the Misses Davenport and was served by Mrs. James Scott and Mrs. Arthur Quimby.

President Merton McLoughlin appointed William Niles, James Scott and J. C. Fraser as entertainment committee for next Tuesday evening.

Tardieu Ministry A. P. LeFevre Apparently Has Died Suddenly

Former Assemblyman LeFevre Died Suddenly at Home in New Paltz—Long Prominent in Civic and Political Life of Southern Ulster.

Paris, Nov. 8 (AP)—Upon Aristide Briand, French foreign minister, today devolved the task of answering questions and making explanation which if satisfactory will bring a vote of confidence in the new government of Andre Tardieu in the Chamber of Deputies.

Failing, it seemed the good impression created yesterday by St. Tardieu with his ministerial declaration, abounding in facts and figures rather than the usual generalities, might go for naught, and that his ministry would be voted out of office before it was fairly in.

Indications today were, barring incidents of the sort always likely to arise in debate, that a small majority—of anywhere from 17 to 45 or 50 votes—would be given the new government. An important government motion of adjournment last night won by 44 votes.

M. Tardieu's ministerial declaration pledged peace with all nations while maintaining the security of France. M. Briand today had to descend from the general to the specific and answer criticism of his policy of evacuation of the Rhineland, the agreement at the Hague, and his proposal to discuss with Germany evacuation of the Saar Basin.

The criticism principally was from the Right, from those deputies who on October 22 were so vehement along with the same lines that M. Briand resigned as premier and took his ministry out with him, bringing about the crisis which M. Tardieu is attempting to solve.

Henri Franklin Bouillon, who has veered sharply to the Right from former radical socialist policies and has become one of the most peaceful of M. Briand's critics, was the most severe of all those who spoke yesterday. He apparently made a deep impression on the Chamber.

"At the Hague," he said, "we paid England in money and Germany in security."

He characterized M. Briand's foreign policies as "too liberal, always giving and never getting."

In opposing the early evacuation of the Rhineland, he affirmed that German appropriations for military purposes were sufficient to give their nation five times as strong an armament as the treaty of Versailles allowed. He charged a German system of roads had been built which would permit easy movement of an army across the frontier into France.

ALLEGED GANGSTER VICTIM HELD FOR EXTORTION

Tecumseh, Okla., Nov. 8 (AP)—A hair-raising story of extortion, abduction and threats of death by "Chicago Gangsters," told by Arthur L. Fauble, Shawnee wholesale merchant, when he re-appeared after having been missing for 24 hours, entered the jurisdiction of criminal authorities today as the result of a sanitary commission verdict that Fauble is mentally sound.

Fauble was adjudged sane yesterday and ten charges of extortion were immediately filed against him. He did not furnish bond of $10,000.

Fauble told officers he had been "in the power of gangsters," for several months. They forced him, he said, to purchase a typewriter on which numerous threatening notes were written to a half dozen capitalists of this region, and to aid them in numerous ways to carry out their "plot."

HOTEL WAS WELL KNOWN TO SPORTING FRATERNITY

Havre De Grace, Md., Nov. 8 (AP)—An early morning fire in the Baron Hotel today drove out more than 30 guests and employees, many of them here for the duck hunting season on upper Chesapeake Bay.

The third and fourth floors of the buildings were wrecked and some damage was done to the lower floors before combined efforts of Havre De Grace, Perryville, Aberdeen and Belair fire departments checked the flames.

The hotel, a center not only for the duck hunting season, but also for the racing meetings here, is well known to the sporting fraternity of the country.

STEEPED IN FRONT OF AUTO AND WAS KILLED

Oneida, N. Y., Nov. 8 (AP)—Joseph Kennedy, 49, was struck and killed at Lakeport late last night by an automobile driven by Francis B. Wilkinson of Baldwinsville. Wilkinson told police Kennedy, a farm hand, was standing in the middle of the road and that when he swerved his machine to avoid hitting him, Kennedy stepped back into its path. Wilkinson was released after being questioned. Kennedy was a Spanish War veteran.

Man Carried Two Districts

Alderman Sam N. Mann, Democrat of the Sixth ward, carried the first and second districts in his reelection Tuesday, getting a majority of 43 in the first and 157 in the second district. It was previously announced that Mann carried only the second district.

ABRAM P. LEFEVRE

Former Assemblyman Abram P. LeFevre died suddenly this morning at his home at New Paltz. He is survived by his wife, who was Miss Emma Vanderlyn, a son, Jay A. LeFevre, and a daughter, Mrs. Bertha Dennison. Funeral services from the late residence Monday afternoon at 1:30 o'clock and at 2 o'clock from the Reformed Church in New Paltz.

Mr. LeFevre was born in 1865 on the old LeFevre homestead in southern Ulster, and his elementary education was acquired in the district schools, supplemented by study in the New Paltz Academy, and he also pursued his studies in a seminary in Union Springs, N. Y.

In 1891, Mr. LeFevre established a lumber, coal and feed business in New Paltz, which business he had conducted ever since most successfully. Always a Republican in politics, he served Ulster county as its assemblyman from the second district before Ulster county lost one of its assemblymen when the second district was abolished and the county allowed but one representative in the assembly. Mr. LeFevre also served for a number of years in the board of supervisors.

In business life he was most successful and was probably one of the best known men in Ulster county. He was a director of the Huguenot National Bank of New Paltz and a trustee of the New Paltz Savings Bank. He was also active in the religious life of southern Ulster and was for many years an active member of the Reformed Church in that village.

SUES "LIBERAL" HUSBAND FOR DIVORCE

Chicago, Nov. 8 (AP)—Gilda McClatchie figured out a great game, but Mrs. McClatchie explained in her suit for divorce today that she didn't care for it.

McClatchie, the wife said, would appear each morning at breakfast time with 75 cents in his hand. He would tell Mrs. McClatchie not to "peek," then he would hide the money about the house.

"You'll have lots of fun finding your allowance today," he would say, playfully, the divorce bill stated. Sometimes she would hunt for hours without results. Often she had a suspicion the money wasn't even in the house.

"Once, she said, her husband opened a charge account for her, she bought one item, a 79-cent kettle, and that was the end of the charge account.

SHOOT HIS WIFE, HER SISTER AND HIMSELF

Chicamanga, Ga., Nov. 8 (AP)—L. J. Strickler, 35, Marietta, Ohio, husband, last night shot his sister-in-law, Dorothy Autry, 31, to death, wounded his wife, Ada, 30, and turned the weapon upon himself.

He died shortly afterwards and his wife is not expected to recover.

According to Mrs. Emma Autry, mother of Mrs. Strickler, her daughter had recently arrived for a visit and had stayed longer than Strickler had thought she should. The husband came to insist that she return.

She said Strickler told her what he was going to do, cornered his wife and her sister in one room, and threatened to kill the mother-in-law if she attempted to interfere, and began shooting.

ACTIVITIES IN ST. PAUL LUTHERAN CHURCH

The pastor will speak on the subject announced for the past Wednesday evening services on next Wednesday, November 12.

On Monday the Men's Club together with their wives and friends are invited to a supper and social in the church hall.

The monthly board meeting will be held at seven o'clock and will be very short.

Meeting of the teachers' society on Wednesday, after the church service. Teachers and officers will note the change of date from Thursday.

Labor Ministry Further Support Apparently Faces In the Securities Markets Today

London, Nov. 8 (AP)—Prime Minister MacDonald's Labor Government has weathered its third storm within a week in the British House of Commons and apparently now faces smoother sailing, immediately ahead.

The third victory, gained yesterday, disposes for several months of criticism of policy in India, one of the most important of the empire's problems, and leaves the Simon Commission on Indian statutory reform free to continue its work.

Previously this week the Laborites had their way in gaining tacit approval for the unemployment schemes of J. H. Thomas, Lord Privy Seal, and in actual approval of arrangements which had been made for resumption of relations with Soviet Russia.

After a debate lasting most of yesterday, noteworthy on several counts, the Commons voted with a majority of 100 to 50 in favor of a motion offered by a Conservative questioning the wisdom of the recent declaration of Lord Irwin, Viceroy, on eventual attainment of Dominion Status for India.

In the course of the debate the Commons leader, Stanley Baldwin, Conservative, told how he had agreed to Lord Irwin's declaration but later withdrew his approval, heard a Labor Minister answer sharply David Lloyd George, Liberal leader, upon whose pleasure the life of the Labor government may depend and listened to Sir John Simon, Liberal, himself plead Labor's cause.

Mr. Baldwin said Mr. MacDonald had written him at Bourges, France, asking if he would agree to reiteration of formerly stated Indian policy, especially as regards eventual dominion status. He answered yes, he said, provided the Simon Commission and the Liberal party also approved.

Later when it developed neither had given their sanction to the declaration he, after conferring with others of his party, withdrew his own approval and so notified Mr. MacDonald. The Labor Prime Minister and Wedgwood Benn, Secretary of State for India, both confirmed the explanation.

The stand of Sir John Simon, who is a prominent Liberal, surprised many who had been led to believe he and his Commission were in agreement with the Conservatives that Lord Irwin's declaration was premature and intensified Britain's difficulties in India.

Five Workmen Blown to Pieces

Worcester, Mass., Nov. 8 (AP)—Five workmen were blown to pieces in a premature explosion of 80 pounds of dynamite in a shaft of the Metropolitan Water Development at Coldbrook early today.

The cause of the explosion was not immediately determined. Fellow workmen told investigators that a dynamite explosion had been set off further in the tunnel at an early hour and that the five men were on their way toward the entrance, carrying 80 pounds of dynamite in one of the small cars used for transporting material. In some manner the dynamite was exploded. The men were blown to pieces and several hours later the parts of the bodies had not been recovered.

The victims were: Joseph Edgicomo, 35; J. Piotti, 40; P. Poude, 41; Joseph Lukes, 38; Joseph Lorenzo, 38. All were living on the construction property.

This division of the $14,000,000 water tunnel project on which the men were working was started recently, after other sections had been completed.

The completed tunnel will be about 13 miles long and will link the Swift river with the Metropolitan water basin in Boylston, which supplies Metropolitan Boston. At some points the tunnel will be 500 feet below the surface.

Cotton Crop Forecast

Washington, Nov. 8 (AP)—A cotton crop of 13,962,899 bales this year was forecast today by the Department of Agriculture. A crop of 14,915,429 was forecast a month ago when the condition of the crop was reported as being 55 per cent of normal. The cotton crop of 1928 was 14,478,899 bales.

Lava and Gas Take Many Lives In Guatemala

Guatemala City, Guatemala, Nov. 8 (AP)—Overwhelmed by molten lava or suffocated by asphyxiating gases, scores of the 200 or more victims of Monday's eruption of Santa Maria volcano have been found in their homes or along the roads near El Palmar where they perished.

The full story of the disaster has begun reaching Guatemala City through relief workers who had brought aid to the thousands of persons in the affected region. In all eight coffee plantations were destroyed and most of their inhabitants killed.

The bodies found in ruined homes along the roads gave more evidence of the horror that had overtaken the population. Some of the dead had been caught in the fields by the molten stream of lava while others had been asphyxiated in their barricaded homes.

One of the most tragic spots was a grove of trees where fleeing inhabitants had sought refuge, some of them climbing into the highest branches, only to suffocate and burn.

Relief funds are being collected through the Red Cross and aid is being sent as quickly as possible to the stricken people.

Advices received in Havana indicate that approximately 25,000 persons were affected by the El Palmar disaster and that more than $1,000,000 damage was caused.

Estimates of the number of dead were reported as 425, while 174 persons were seriously injured and more than 300 suffered minor hurts.

LITTLE DIVERSION NOW OF DENATURED ALCOHOL

Washington, Nov. 8 (AP)—Deaths from poison liquor, which in recent years have occurred at the Christmas holidays, are improbable this year. Prohibition Commissioner Dorn said today, because there was little diversion now of denatured alcohol and bootleggers had it cheaper to manufacture their own alcohol than to convert the denatured product.

Dorn said that in each of the 60 industrial alcohol plants there were from two to eight inspectors checking the removal of all alcohol and following it to its final disposition. Making diversion nearly impossible.

The Commissioner pointed out, however, that in the past many deaths attributed to poison alcohol had been the result of alcohol poisoning due to overindulgence in bootleg liquor.

Some of the deaths at previous holiday seasons occurred because bootleggers used wood alcohol to manufacture illicit liquor. Dorn said, adding the prohibition bureau has no jurisdiction over the distribution of wood alcohol.

ALL ON A SALARY OF $2,500 A YEAR

New York, Nov. 8 (AP)—A wife's testimony that her prohibition agent husband, on a salary of $2,500 a year, acquired both a town and a country house, two automobiles and was on record in Brooklyn Supreme Court today.

Mrs. Isabel T. Kerrigan appeared to contest an application by her husband, John J. Kerrigan, that an order requiring him to pay $35 a week alimony pending trial of her suit for divorce be set aside. He contended he was without funds and dependent upon his father for support.

She said that since their marriage in 1923 her husband acquired a summer house at Staten Island, a town house in Manhattan, two automobiles and a 90 horsepower motor boat, all of which he still owns, and that he has considerable sums of money in banks in the names of other persons.

Kerrigan recently was acquitted of a charge of conspiring to evade the Volstead Act by protecting a liquor convoy on Long Island.

JACKLIGHTING PARTIES ARRESTED BY TROOPERS

There has been an unusually large number of jacklighting parties arrested by State Troopers and Game Wardens during the present deer hunting season. State Troopers in the vicinity of Willow have made a number of arrests of night hunting parties using spotlights contrary to law. Probably the apparent scarcity of deer has caused many alleged sportsmen to turn to illegal methods of securing game. In cases where the parties are apprehended heavy fines are imposed.

May Acquire Grand Trunk

Washington, Nov. 8 (AP)—Authorization for the Canadian National Railway to acquire control of the Grand Trunk Western Railway and the latter road to issue securities in Canada was given today by the Interstate Commerce Commission. The Canadian National will obtain control of the Grand Trunk through an exchange of stock.

Beatification of English Catholics

Vatican City, Nov. 8 (AP)—More than 200 English Catholics—priests and laymen—martyred for their faith in the period between 1534 and 1679 will be solemnly beatified in St. Peter's Basilica with imposing ceremonies some time during December. In another ceremony of the same sort, the Rev. Father Ogilvie, Scottish Jesuit who suffered martyrdom during the same time, will be similarly honored.

The most conspicuous figures among those destined to bear the title of "Blessed" before their names, by virtue of their beatification, are Fathers George Haydock, John Roberts, Arthur Ball, Robert Southwell and Philip Howard, Earl of Arundel.

The persecutions began under Queen Elizabeth and continued through the reigns of James I and Charles I and under the commonwealth. There was a recurrence of executions upon the discovery of the so-called Oates plot, in 1678. Some were put to death on the gibbet at Tyburn, others hanged in cathedral towns of the English counties, and still others were left to die in prison.

In all, there were 244 victims of the religious strife in Great Britain whose "causes" will be examined prior to November 12, the day when the so-called general congregation meets in the Vatican, the Pope himself being present.

Owing to the difficulty of establishing the identities of several of the victims, and doubt as to whether or not they actually did suffer martyrdom, not all of the 244 will be accorded beatification, but in any case it is certain the honor will be given to at least 200 of their number.

A pilgrimage of Scottish Catholics will come to Rome for the beatification of Father John Ogilvie, known by the title of "Venerable" since the 17th century.

Father Ogilvie was brought up as a Calvinist, but converted at the University of Louvain. He entered the Jesuit Order, was ordained a priest in 1613, and at his own request was sent into Scotland as a missionary, knowing that a price was on his head.

After nine months of preaching in Edinburgh and Glasgow, he was betrayed by informers, and was said to have been tortured during months in prison in a vain effort to make him reveal the names of Catholics. At the end he was condemned and hanged as a traitor.

YOUNG MARRIED WOMEN'S CLUB LECTURE THURSDAY

The Young Married Women's Club of the Y. W. C. A. is sponsoring a lecture to be held on Thursday, November 14, at 2:30 o'clock. This lecture, European Policies and Politics, will be given by Miss Frances Lyon, a graduate of Cornell University and a member of the New York Bar, a woman who not only has had the advantage of legal training but also of foreign travel. Miss Lyon, who lectured before the Twentieth Century and Sorosis Clubs last winter, spent the summer of 1929 in Europe. She was at the Hague, in Germany, in Hungary, Austria and Czechoslovakia, and attended the assembly of the League of Nations at Geneva. Miss Lyon is primed with first hand information concerning conditions in Europe today and her talk cannot fail to be extremely valuable to every thinking man and woman.

The lecture will be given at the regular meeting of the club, and while free to members, is open to the public, men and women, at a very small fee.

A Gingham Dress Dance.

A gingham dress dance will be held at the Polish School Hall, Wednesday, November 10, by the Children of Mary Sodality of the Immaculate Conception Church. A good time is promised, all who attend. Zucca's string orchestra will furnish music for dancing. Everybody welcome.

Shapely Legs Often Ruined By VARICOSE VEINS

Simple Home Treatment Brings Amazing Results.

Varicose veins are veins which have become dilated and enlarged by undue pressure made upon them and are most frequently caused by tight garters, girdles, corsets, and standing long standing, childbearing, etc.

Anyone suffering with Varicose Veins should start and take immediate precaution because untreated veins have a tendency to grow worse and worse until finally they can only be relieved by an operation.

It is now an accepted fact that the best home treatment to banish Varicose Veins is Moore's Emerald Oil—a powerful penetrating and antiseptic oil which quickly stops the pain, wonderfully strengthens the legs and swiftly reduces most enlarged and swollen veins to normal.

Why let your legs become so attractive as to be ruined by ugly veins when a 25-cent bottle of Moore's Emerald Oil will do the work and save you standing around a doctor's office? A woman from Oregon writes: "I suffered with Varicose Veins for 15 years and finally I used Moore's Emerald Oil. It cured my legs and I can't praise it enough and I'm so glad I read about it in the Oregon Journal."

The Evening Suit Makes Its Triumphant Entry.

New York.—The oft repeated statement that there is nothing new under the sun seems challenged by the entrance of the evening suit. According to prevailing standards suits were all very well for mill and for market, but when it came to parties in the late afternoon or after six, suits were taboo. Suits and springtime were also definitely related. Now with winter upon us, and formal clothes crowding simple things out of the wardrobe, suits have arrived in such new guise that the smart woman, taken unawares, succumbs to them, not only at the season with which they are not associated, but for evening, which is most extraordinary of all.

The velvet or metal cloth suit or the handsome broadcloth may now have a sleeveless top, or blouse if one prefers to call it such. This may have all the formality of an evening gown, low cut neck—no sleeves, and elaborate decorations of beading if the material is not of the so-called precious variety which is usually so.

Black Velvet With Georgette, Bead Embroidered Bodice Suitable for Evening, and With Short Jacket Is Ideal for Afternoon Wear.
(Copyright, 1929, by Fairchild.)

richly embroidered that it requires no further decoration. The top is always of contrasting color and fabric, egg shell tones with black being offered with white as the best selections.

The evening suit is usually hand-somely furled, and may have either white or egg shell fur to match the blouse. Metal cloth is of course harmonious with either light or dark fur. It has been found that black velvet richly furled in white is the dominant note of town night life, the all black coat being a prime daytime favorite.

The economically inclined will take advantage of the evening suit idea by a change of blouses some of which will not be too elaborate for the tea hour.

Teaches How to Keep Babies Well

The Junior League of Kingston, whose great objective is to teach mothers to keep babies well, is this year broadening out and teaching the older girls of the family the fundamentals of child care. This is done by means of the "Little Mothers' League", which is an organization of girls for the purpose of teaching them how to take care of babies and how to keep healthy themselves.

The Bureau of Hygiene of New York city board of health, in its investigations of the causes of infant mortality, found it evident that the instruction of mothers in the proper method of baby care was not enough. They found that economic conditions often forced the mother to work outside the home and that many babies received most of their care from their older sisters. Realizing this, the bureau set out to find how the danger that existed in this arrangement could be eliminated and at the same time give these girls interest and enthusiasm in adding to the baby life-saving campaign. As a result the first "Little Mothers' League" was started in New York city in 1910 under the leadership of the Bureau of Child Hygiene. The plan has been adopted by almost every state in the union and today we find these clubs in every community where baby welfare work is being carried on.

The first Little Mothers' League in Kingston was started in September by the Junior League, and is under the supervision of Miss Cassidy, the baby welfare nurse. This class is held every week in the hall on North street and is largely attended. The girls are taught about the normal growth and development of the baby; how to wash and dress the infant; what kind of clothing it requires, and also how to make such clothing. She learns the value of sleep, fresh air and clean, wholesome milk and how to care for milk and bottles. The girls are really putting into practical use what they are learning and take great pride in bringing the babies of the family to the baby conferences, which are held every Wednesday, to be weighed and inspected by Miss Cassidy.

The Junior League feels sure that the organization of these Little Mothers' Leagues is a great step toward healthier babies and even toward the saving of many baby lives, and is encouraged by the success with which the formation of the Little Mothers' League has met in Kingston.

OUR DAILY PATTERN.

A New and Stylish Model, For slender Figures.

6635. Printed velvet, is here pictured with bindings and jabot of crepe. This model is also attractive in plain velvet, in taffeta, or in lightweight woolsens. The waist fronts overlap from right to left, at diagonal lines, below which a soft jabot is arranged. The skirt is a two-piece model with plait formation over the right side of back and front. The dress has a becoming V neck, and a pretty sleeve, with soft fullness gathered above a narrow band cuff. The pattern is cut in 3 sizes: 16, 18 and 20 years. To make the dress for a 16 year size will require 4 1/2 yards of 39 inch material. For jabot or contrasting material 1/3 yard is required 12 inches wide, cut lengthwise. To finish the dress with bias binding as pictured in the large view, will require 4 1/4 yards 1 1/4 inch wide. The width of the dress at the lower edge with plait fullness extended is 2 1/3 yards.

A pattern of this illustration mailed to any address on receipt of 12c in coin or stamps by the Pattern Department, The Freeman, Kingston, N. Y. Be sure to state the size wanted.

Flashes of Life Sketched in Brief

(By The Associated Press)

New York—Miss Marjorie Delrich, wealthy and socially prominent, is to sell all of her style over the radio. Her first address will be next Tuesday at 11:30 a. m. over CBS.

New Haven—Miss Rosalee Lee Lathrop, who for 34 years was a clerk for the principal of a high school, has left an estate of $340,000. She made most of it by taking profits in the stock market.

New York—Robert Hazard drives a taxi by night and writes by day. He has sold stories to magazines and a novel is to be published shortly. Until he has fully arrived he intends to continue cruising at night making the pot boil and getting material. A graduate of the University of Illinois, he was successively a hobo and a farm worker in California and Virginia and a salaried worker in Philadelphia.

New Brunswick, N. J.—John M. Thomas, president of Rutgers University, having a gold-headed cane polished, expecting to take it to church on Sunday. If Lafayette beats Rutgers at football tomorrow the cane will be returned to where it has been since 1926, when Mr. Thomas said he would not wear it till Rutgers won.

Albany, N. Y.—Governor Roosevelt is now authorized to drive a car, having passed a test with one equipped with handbrakes. Infantile paralysis prevents him from using foot pedals.

Minneapolis—A scheme to boost the circulation of The Gopher, undergraduate year book at the University of Minnesota, has failed. Twelve chorus girls were to be on the campus an hour and 15 minutes and kiss everybody who subscribed. Dean C. E. Nicholson put his foot down.

New York—Telephone girls are to have no difficulty at all in understanding numbers. A talkie film device demonstrated by experts of the Bell laboratories gives the number verbally to central when the subscriber silently dials it. It is to be put into use in New York city.

London—One of the things noticed particularly in the United States by Isabel MacDonald, as she related to a labor meeting, is that Americans clasp their hands when Englishmen would cheer.

Omaha—Frank O'Connell has won a $200 prize for the best essay on the pioneer life of Nebraska. He is serving the 14th year of a life term for bank robbery and murder.

New York—Beatrice Lillie has arrived from abroad to fulfill a two weeks' vaudeville engagement for which she will be paid $15,000. Then she will go to Hollywood to make talkies.

Land Transferences
From 3000 B. C. down to the Christian era, the form of documents transferring land remained practically the same. First came a description of the land, its size and exact location; then the names of the seller and the buyer and a statement that the land in question had been sold. Usually the price was paid at once, but there are cases on record where the purchase was made on credit—this credit being a promise to pay, written in the contract or made before witnesses. At the end of the contract was a note to the effect that the participants have corroborated the purchase by oath (similar to our oath before notaries for legal papers); then followed the signatures and the names of witnesses.

Modern Miracles
The illusion to the use of a snail's rise in temperature mechanically calling the fire station by releasing a spring that sets the bell ringing, mentioned in a case before the King's Bench division, has astonished the world. But there are more wonderful miracles than this due to applied science. For instance, some of the fog horns on buoys at sea are blown by an amazing device. Human hair is the means employed. A hundred human hairs fixed side by side, like the hairs of a violin bow, stretch in foggy air and thus open a valve which releases a gas. This gas works the siren.—London Mail.

First Shorthand System
Modern shorthand dates from the patent granted on July 28, 1868, for fifteen years, to Dr. Timothy Bright, resident physician at St. Bartholomew's hospital, which licensed him to teach, imprint, and publish, or cause to be taught, imprinted, and published, in or by character not before the time commonly known and used by any other shorthand system. In the same year Bright published a description of the system in his book "Character. An art of short, swift and accurate writing by character."—London Answers.

Find Ptolemy's Will Inscribed on Slab

Rome.—The Italian Archaeological Mission, now excavating the ancient town of Cyrene, in north Africa, announces the discovery of a marble slab in a perfect state of preservation inscribed with the will of Ptolemy VIII, king of Egypt and Cyrene. According to his kingdom to the Romans in the case of his death without issue. Ptolemy was succeeded in 116 B. C. by his son Apion, on whose death in 96 B. C. Cyrene passed under the Roman dominion.

Temperance and Liquor in Ontario

Toronto, Nov. 8 (AP).—The spread of temperance and the sale of liquor will go hand in hand under the new regulations proposed by the government of Ontario.

Literature advocating temperance and warnings against excessive drinking and operation of automobiles will be given with every permit at the government liquor stores.

In keeping with the campaign promises of Premier G. Howard Ferguson, that more stringent regulations of the liquor control act would be put into force, Attorney General W. H. Price today made public the proposed regulations.

These also called for cancellation of permits of wineries on proof of sale to minors and instant dismissal of permit holders giving one man two or more permits.

Attorney General Price said he would advocate more stringent penalties for operating automobiles while intoxicated.

QUALITY so fine that half the world doesn't realize that Buick is priced so low!

It is an impressive fact that men and women are buying from two to five times as many new Buicks as any other car priced above $1200.

Moreover, during August and September, Buick monopolized its market to such a degree that it won 41% of the total sales of the 15 makes of cars in its price class.

And yet this marked preference for Buick would be still greater if all motorists realized that they can obtain this magnificent new Buick at such remarkably low prices.

Six of the fourteen luxurious Buick body types may be purchased for less than $1300, f.o.b. factory—simply because of the manufacturing economies resulting from Buick's tremendous sales leadership in the fine car field.

Certainly, only Buick volume production could make possible prices so low. For these are Buicks through and through—built with the finish and precision for which Buick is world-famous—and endowed with the full array of Buick quality features.

Here are Buick's new and surprisingly powerful bodies by Fisher. Here is the masterly Buick Valve-in-Head engine—most powerful engine of its size in the world. Here are Buick's new Controlled Serve Enclosed Mechanical Brakes—the new Buick steering gear—new Road Shock Eliminator—and Buick's new, longer rear springs with Lovejoy Discromatic Shock Absorbers. Here are all of the features which have enabled Buick to win the greatest measure of public preference attained by any automobile in any price class.

The new Buick, with these features, will introduce you to new and unequalled performance, driving ease, riding comfort and reliability on any day you put it to the test. And yet six Buick models are offered at the price of cars which motorists never think of comparing with Buick!

Visit our showroom. Bring your present car. Learn how easily you can obtain one of these new Buicks. All are available on the extremely liberal General Motors Time Payment Plan.

In addition to these lower priced models, Buick offers eight other distinguished body types, representing the ultimate in luxury, and priced from $1465 to $1995, f.o.b. factory.

Defective Alarm A Help to Robbers

Jefferson, Wis., Nov. 8 (AP).—Authorities today had nothing more tangible than a house number and incomplete descriptions on which to base their search for five men who robbed the Farmers' and Merchants' bank yesterday of approximately $150,000 in cash and securities.

The number, apparently issued in Ohio, and the descriptions led the sheriff to wire the bureau of criminal identification at Columbus. From this he was hopeful "something tangible" would result.

The robbery was so well executed that the men slipped easily through a hastily formed vigilante cordon in southern Wisconsin.

A defective burglar alarm shared blame with the carefully laid plans of the robbers. It had been ringing almost daily. Consequently citizens paid no attention when its clangor actually signalled a robbery. Only a few panicky and a neighboring grocer noticed the bank was being robbed and they were held at bay by a gun in the hands of one of the gang.

The men, unmarked and each carrying a pistol, strode into the bank at noon, forced five persons to lie on the floor, slugged an assistant cashier and, after firing several shots, went through the vault and cages. They obtained $84,000 in cash, $25,000 in negotiable Liberty bonds and $39,000 in non-negotiable securities. The loss was covered by insurance.

Official estimates place the Hungarian corn crop at 75,000,000 bushels, 26,000,000 bushels more than in 1928.

ROCKFORD GRANGE OBSERVES "YOUTH" NIGHT

Rockford, Nov. 8.—The regular meeting of Rockford Grange, No. 150, held October 26, was largely attended. It being "Youth" Night, an interesting program was arranged by Worthy Lecturer Mrs. A. L. Merrihew. After the business meeting the lecture hour began and there were no end of surprises. Community singing, games, unique and most amusing, in which nearly all participated, were much enjoyed, after which refreshments were served.

The committee for the same were Mr. and Mrs. H. Mollenhauer, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Clark, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Merrihew, Mr. and Mrs. Weston Clark, Otto Mollenhauer, Mr. and Mrs. Isaac Merrihew. Dancing with music by Brother Floyd Delia ended the festive evening.

The next meeting will be held on November 11, known as "Officers' Night", to which all members are most cordially invited. It is needed to say the Grange affair, we looked forward to with much anticipation of an evening well spent among the members and their families.

Assertiveness Needed
A burglar should be shot and a rude man knocked down. But we "don't like to say anything" to objectionable people, whereas we should glory in it. The wellbehaved must assert themselves more, if they would check the present reign of lawlessness. A burglar takes a risk in holding up a man; a good citizen should take a risk in protecting himself.—E. W. Howe's Monthly.

Father and Son Program Complete

The program committee perfecting arrangements for the Father and Son Banquet to be held in the Y. M. C. A. gym on November 15, announced today that Samuel M. Wallis has consented to speak for the men.

The subject of his three minute address will be "Our Boys". His son, Gordon Wallis, will respond with a three minute speech on "Our Dads".

Tickets are now on sale and may be procured from committee members in any of the churches or at Winter's store on Wall street, the Connelly Drug Co., 11 Broadway, or at the Y. M. C. A. All arrangements for the dinner and the program have been completed and the activities are scheduled to begin promptly at 6:25, P. M.

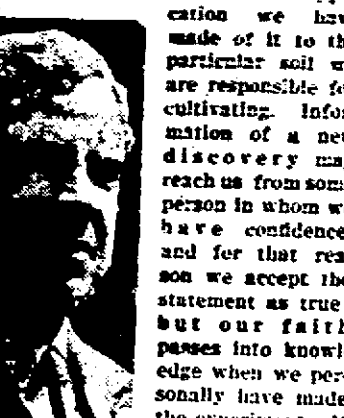

Considerable interest in the banquet has been shown by the boys. Many of them are anxious especially to hear Barbuti who is a real hero to them. The boy committee reports that several boys want to attend but have no one to take them. This committee wants it understood that a man does not necessarily have to have a son to attend the banquet. All men are welcome but must bring either their own boy or an adopted one for the evening.

EXPERIENCE

EXPERIENCE is a very valuable asset in life for the following reasons: First: It is a test. William James, the late psychologist of Harvard university, coined the phrase, "The Pragmatic Test." It may be high sounding, but its meaning is very simple. The test of truth is experience. We know the value of a certain fertilizer because of the application we have made of it to the particular soil we are responsible for cultivating. Information of a new discovery may reach us from some person in whom we have confidence, and for that reason we accept the statement as true; but our faith passes into knowledge when we personally have made the experiment. If we are not able to make the experiment we must accept the statement of others; this is faith. When our experience tells us it is true, we possess a knowledge which no one can take from us. In very many ways, common place and ordinary, experience is the test of truth. A statement should not be denied, until we know from experience, it is not true.

Experience is a teacher. Many persons fail in life because they refuse to learn from experience. Every person makes mistakes. No one is infallible. The first mistake is usually pardonable, but there is no reason why the same mistake should be repeated the second time. Continuing to do the thing, which experience has clearly taught was a mistake, is most futile. If experience has taught me that a bee stings, I deserve to be stung if I deliberately subject myself to that danger again. The lessons which experience teaches are most valuable, because from them we learn our sources of strength, as well as of weakness.

Experience is a valuable legacy.

World in two days there is a wonderful thing if Lincoln could have had a successor? It seems strange, but true that no person can continue another person's work in the sense of doing it just as the other person would have done it. We can, however, build upon another's foundation, because in this work he has left us his personal experience. The most valuable heritage we can ever leave to our children is not money, but an experience expressed in character and ideals. (A. 1929, Western Newspaper Union.)

This handsome chap, endeavoring to reach stardom in the "movies," is to be seen in "Masquerade," a motion picture production. Breeden is a millionaire in his own right. He stands five feet eleven inches, has dark brown curly hair and clear gray eyes. His early ambition was to become a locomotive engineer, but he got over that when he went to Vienna to study music. He went on the stage there and returned to America with the intention of becoming a star.

CALMLY ADMITS SLAYING WOMAN

Gay Lothario Had Many,
Many Sweethearts, New York Police Claim.

New York.—Picking tomatoes on the farm of a brother-in-law at Marlboro, N. Y., with the same sweetheart as police say he returned into the lives of many women, Joseph Barbara, a middle-aged man, was arrested recently and charged with the murder of Mrs. Julia Quintieri, who was found strangled to death in her home in the Bronx.

It took 13 hours of grilling to break down an alibi which Barbara clung to.
But he finally asked for a slip of paper and scribbled on it:

"I killed Julia Quintieri."

Motive in Doubt.
The murder, it developed, was committed while a boy slept in an adjoining room. Police were in doubt as to the motive.

"I don't know why I did it," was all Barbara would say, with a shake of his head when questioned by District Attorney McGeehan and John F.
Cordis among other detectives.

Barbara, who keeps a store and rooming house at No. 2103 Fifth avenue, is the man Mrs. Quintieri told friends she was mortally afraid of.

It was this fear, resulting in her twice appealing to the police department for protection, which resulted in the apprehension of Barbara at the farm of Vito Molise, the brother-in-law. Barbara's name was on the card of Vito's son Frank Ziti who responded on the occasions.

Barbara, who, according to the police, has two wives, one in Brooklyn, one in Italy, and a love nest somewhere else in the city, once numbered
Mrs. Quintieri among his boarders.

There was never an affair between them, friends say. But despite the admitted fear of Mrs. Quintieri for the man, he seems to have called at her home the night before the murder and chatted with her in the apartment until early the next morning.

"It looks as if you were moving," was Mrs. Quintieri's greeting as told by Barbara to Mr. McGeehan when she spied him with a valise in his hand at the door of her home. They then chatted together all that night until 4 a. m. when Barbara confessed he battered her face, and twisted the cord about her throat which strangled her.

Tried to Frame Alibi.
Barbara then fled to Marlboro, first stopping off at Newburgh where he tried to establish an alibi through a friend who agreed to say the two had been playing cards together all night if questioned.

This alibi was soon shattered, the friend informing police he had not seen Barbara for "many months."

In contrast to the exactness with which he described his movements before and after his visit to the woman's apartment, was Barbara's haziness concerning what went on in the eight hours he spent there. He told the police he didn't know where he got the string with which he strangled her and was rambling in other parts of his narrative, as when he charged
Mrs. Quintieri with being the pursuer and not he.

Mrs. Quintieri's husband was forced to go to Colorado because of ill health and at one point Barbara charged her with wanting her husband poisoned.
Detectives put no credence in these or other charges, however, pointing out that no disagreement ever existed between Mrs. Quintieri and her husband.

"If I am found dead you can blame this on Barbara," she frequently told friends, Mr. McGeehan said.

Barbara was arraigned in the West
Farm court on a charge of homicide.
The wife in Brooklyn left him a year ago after accusing him of keeping company with other women. They have two children.

Sits on Piano to Save
It After Failing to Pay

Cambridge, Mass.—Because she sat on the keyboard of her piano and thus prevented its removal for failure to maintain payments, Viola Bondrow of this city was charged with concealing mortgaged property. In discharging her, Judge Arthur Stone ruled she had not concealed the property but merely that part of the keyboard upon which she sat.

Clown Acts as Best Man as Pastor Weds

Blackpool, England.—Rev. F.
B. Freshwater, vicar of St. Stephen's church of this city, and Miss Barbara M. Cuthbertson were married here with a clown as a groomsman, a troupe of dancing girls as maids of honor, and a dance band furnishing the wedding music.

Freshwater is also local chaplain of the Actor's Church union.
The church was crowded for the unusual ceremony and hundreds of persons had to be barred from the church by the police because of their curiosity.

A way had to be cleared by the police before the bride and groom could leave the church.
In the congregation were many theatrical people with whom the vicar is a great favorite.

D. A. R. Will Help Veterans

The regular monthly meeting of the Kingston Chapter, D. A. R. was held at the Chapter House on Thursday afternoon and was largely attended. One new member was received, Mrs. Raymond Cross of the Governor's Custom Hotel. The chapter received a gift of a handsome rag rug from an out of town member. Mrs. Cornelia Stafford gave an exceedingly interesting account of her recent visit to the new D. A. R. Constitution Hall in Washington. The regent, Mrs. V. B. VanWagoner, had prepared a realistic report of the State D. A. R. Conference held at Niagara and the same was read by Mrs. Hennessey. The chapter voted to undertake a well worth while piece of philanthropy, that of contributing to the relief of the soldier boys at the hospital at Castle Point near Beacon. In order to have the funds for this splendid undertaking, the chapter will hold a card party at the chapter house on Friday, November 21, and further details pertaining thereto will be published later. The afternoon's program included a most excellent as well as entertaining and informing address on "Geology" given by Principal Van Ingen of the High School. The usual pleasant social hour followed the address, Mrs. William M. Davis and Mrs. Ralph D. Clearwater being the hostesses. Students in the University of Missouri represent 25 religious faiths.

Armistice Service at Krumville. Krumville, Nov. 7.—A service appropriate to Armistice Day will be held in the Reformed Church next Sunday morning at 11 o'clock. The Rev. T. S. Braithwaite will have a special sermon on "Peace." All invited.

Home For the Aged Fair. The annual fair for the elevator fund for the Home for the Aged will be held at The Home on Wednesday, November 29. Among other things usually found at a fair, home made cake and candy will be for sale.

Appreciation of Kingston Hospital

Many things may happen when you go on a journey and many things have unexpectedly happened, by which individuals and even nations have been enriched. Abraham went on a journey; the Jews went to Babylon; Paul journeyed to Damascus; much of the New Testament was written on journeys; the Crusaders went through Italy to Syria and discovered a more wonderful civilization than they ever dreamed of, etc.

The writer went to a conference in Columbus, Silver Bay, N. Y., and on the way home something happened on the highway and he found himself in Kingston Hospital with a fractured vertebrae. He remained there for five weeks to recuperate and meditate. Strange to say these experiences, though we would not choose them, often bring enlargement of heart, wider mental horizons and enrichment of life. There are E. G. Strangers or unknown ecclesiastical names, or peoples, as cold and forbidding as a mountain range, but when we pass beyond, to our surprise and delight, like the Crusaders of old, we discover a beautiful country and a people who surprise us in Christian benevolence and hospitality, as well as in the gifts and graces of friendship. This was my happy experience in Kingston. There are "December Roses," the roses of remembrance, and they are poor indeed who do not cherish and treasure memories of kindness and love, unmerited, undeserved, but not unappreciated. I could mention scores of others.

I told my genial physician that under his care I was growing some "Yankee Grittle" in my backbone, and I may say that, though it is still stiff and sore, I will always be able to look up and honor the "Stars and Stripes" that floated in the breeze above me and I will never cease to revere the institution that cared for me in these weeks of helplessness.

A word of appreciation of the hospital. I was a patient and saw that of the official or occasional visitor. I suppose the ideal hospital is an institution where there is first-class equipment, a fine staff of nurses and competent supervision (anybody and everybody will do for patients). The latter would appeal to me as of first importance. Leadership and organization is the first essential of nations, armies and corporations as well as of hospitals and homes.

Needless to say, I was very much impressed with this feature in the hospital. The staff have a difficult and delicate task to perform, with one patient on the one hand and two nurses on the other. It is a fine thing to put yourself in the other fellow's place and see life from his point of view. We are all human and sometimes nurses get weary and some patients are unreasonable. Yet the moral is, this hospital exists for the patients. Often the nurses go to bed after supper exhausted with the day's work. In addition to arduous labor they have lectures and studies very much harder than they get at high school. The nurses are somewhat slim in appearance, but this is not due to their privations, however, but is only in conformity with the prevailing fashion that has changed a few times since Miss Van Winkle is supposed to have wandered among the surrounding hills and ministered to, or amused, the portly dames of the period.

The nurses are generally the pick of the towns and the "Cream of the Country," and have humanitarian instincts and interests above the average mortal. They are in love with their work and usually perform their ordinary and even-trying duties with dignity, cheerfulness and skill. I imagined it would be a slow and costly process to transform an ordinary, careless human being into a highly skilled professional nurse. It must demand patience and submission on the one hand, and a careful and benevolent discipline on the other, but the staff is striving to have a hospital with a reputation to give a diploma that means something. It means hard work and cooperation and they are succeeding in a wonderful way.

Then I had hospital diet! I suppose everybody knows that college students, chickens, hospital patients and nurses get a balanced ration, "that contains in proper proportions the calories, vitamins and "what-nots" necessary to sustain life in the highest degree of efficiency. Being aware of this I partook of my food in a critical mood and noted results. I enjoyed all my meals. I had no craving for anything else than I received. I did not get tired of any dish as the variety was all that could be desired. When I was able to leave the hospital and go to a restaurant with a healthy appetite, I scanned the bill of fare to put my theory to the proof and I found that nothing tempted me in any special way. The new knowledge of food values and the employment of skilled dietitians have put an end to the "grub-riots" in some colleges I know.

The people of Kingston ought to be proud of their hospitals (although I do not know the Benedictine Monastery). I have heard the kindest things about it in the City Hospital. The secret of a people is hid away in their religion and manifest in their home life and in their benevolences. To build, equip and maintain two such hospitals, staffed by such splendid women, is a credit to any city, and if they knew the kind of skillful and loving service performed they would not hesitate to give them all the support they require. We have to be sick, helpless and a stranger, to remember the beautiful words of the Christ, who said, "Inasmuch as ye have done it unto the least of these my brethren ye have done it unto me," and we must not forget that there is judgment and doom to those who forget this duty and privilege.

First Attempts At Winter Fog

London, Nov. 8 (AP)—London has made her first tentative attempts at a winter fog, and Americans who are wintering for the first time in the British capital are making eager inquiries as to the prospects of their experiencing one of the real "Fox Soupers" of which they have heard so much.

Possibly they will be disappointed. The London fog, say the old-timers, are not what they used to be and they add that the introduction of gas fires and electric and steam heating, as well as the improved smoke-consuming devices that have been introduced in factories on the city's outskirts, have robbed the much-famed fog of the greater part of its terrors—or of its charms, according to the point of view.

Certainly the thick, yellow choking blanket that used to descend two or three times a winter into the London streets, and gave rise to such well-worn jests as "How did you get that lump on the back of your head?" "Oh, I was leaning against the fog when it lifted," seems to be much more infrequent in its visits than of old; and the fogs in general are paler in color than they used to be.

Yet even now, once every winter or so, there comes a fog that is quite sufficiently dense to turn London into a city of adventure and to cause even the experienced cockney to lose his way a few hundred yards from his own doorstep.

A farmer near Centralia, Wash., seeded 1,000 acres of land in half a day, using an airplane.

I have heard the kindest things about it in the City Hospital. The secret of a people is hid away in their religion and manifest in their home life and in their benevolences. LIVE BUSINESS MEN ADVERTISE IN THE FREEMAN

Pack up his troubles in an old kit bag, and make him SMILE!

"... and, least of all, an Adventure, for Death is not an Adventure to those who stand face to face with it... a generation of men, who even though they may have escaped its shells, were destroyed by the War."

From the writings of
ERICH MARIA REMARQUE.

WHAT of the thousands upon thousands who did not escape the shells? Cheered and blessed by the American nation a bare dozen years ago, they lie scattered today in a score of hospitals . . . those that came back to us at all. These men, still young . . . at an age when they should be rising to grasp the heritage of guiding America's destiny . . . are dependent on those for whom they fought.

The government has done much for the disabled. But it is not enough. There are far too many of them. We must help . . . all of us—just as a small mark of the devotion of a grateful nation. This is a thought worthy of Armistice Day.

THE AMERICAN LEGION is the organization nationally recognized as the guardian and spokesmen of their disabled buddies.

AT THE AMERICAN LEGION VICTORY BALL in the Kingston Armory next Monday night a brief ceremony will be held at 11:00 o'clock, the hour of the armistice, in memory of their departed comrades and in honor of their disabled buddies.

Legal Law and Order" League

Chicago, Nov. 5 (AP).—The government believed today it had uncovered a new racket under the name of the South Side Business Men's Law and Order League. Among members arrested by prohibition officers yesterday were William Mayer, chairman, and Mrs. Lena Whitworth, 62-year-old widow listed as president.

Daniel Anderson, assistant United States attorney, said the league's purpose apparently was threefold: to protect business from those who offered money for law and order, to protect the league from members of law and order.

Anderson said the government was informed that the league had alcohol and provided a number of protection to its customers. To violators who refused to pay would be referred to raids. An office was maintained in which subscriptions were received from persons interested in prohibition law enforcement. Payee, known as a professional reference, called the arrest a frame-up.

No Indian "Treasures"
The Bureau of Indian Affairs is frequently and indignantly reported as having been deceived by natives arranged to turn over other objects of art, including to be made on Indian reservation. It is generally found there is nothing in them of any value. The Indian never acquired the reputation of either individual or tribal wealth and did not have treasure.

Mountain Scenery Calls Soil Tillers Of Grange

Farmers who attend the convention of the National Grange in Seattle November 13 will have a chance to follow the scenic "skyline trail" of Mt. Rainier (above) and feed candy to the begging bears (below). Louis J. Taber (inset) may be elected national master of the Grange a fourth time.

By Frank I. Weller
Farm Editor
(Associated Press Feature Service)

Washington (AP).—A wonderland of adventure beckons to the idle hours of delegates to the Seattle convention of the National Grange. Starting at Boston, the Grange special train will swell its load of several hundred delegates and visitors at Washington, Chicago, and Minneapolis before roaring into the Canadian Rockies toward Vancouver, B. C., thence down to Seattle by November 13. Few times in history have farmers dropped the trace chains long mingling of pleasure and serious business.

It is the sixty-third annual convention of the Grange and there is pending tariff and farm relief legislation to consider as well as the activities and policies of the newly appointed farm board.

For half a century the Grange, greatest fraternal organization of the American farmer, has had a hand in the making of farm legislation.

Although the official program is scheduled to November 13, the easterners, who will be but a sprinkling among the thousands from northwest and Pacific coast affiliates, expect to answer the plan agent's call to the will.

Hiding the "skyline trail" of Mt. Rainier, 14,410 feet above sea level, is the imagination of grateful farmers from Nebraska. The great plains promise strange sights for the Grange national picnic visitors. Hoofbeats who never saw a bear unless it was in a dream, may feed him in the wild state as he lumbers to the call of Grange national picnic visitors.

For all and sundry, an official excursion to one of the largest sawmills on Puget Sound is to end in an Indian salmon bake at Point Defiance. Clam bakes hold promise, and duck shooting is good along the Sound.

Boat excursions and trips through the virgin forest of Olympic mountain are not to be missed by folks to whom the hum of the binder and the creak of harness leather is all-important but commonplace.

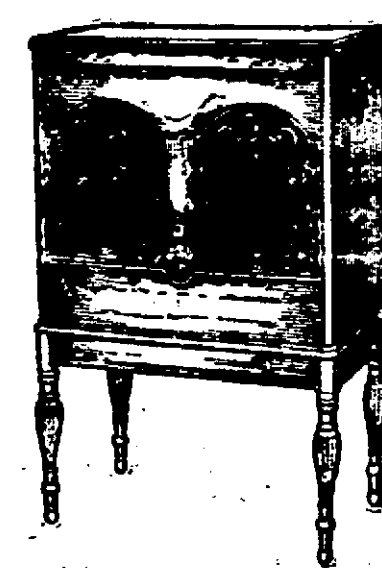

Shipment of tree fruits from California in 1929 decreased 7,000 cars to a total of 12,000, it is estimated.

Coast Guard Will Have Winter Of Target Practice In Southern Waters

St. Petersburg, Fla. (AP)—It looks like a long, hard winter for the rum fleet which operates in Florida waters.

The recent raid along the New Jersey coast, by which rum trade said to have netted $2,000,000 in six months was smashed, marked what probably was the last major operation in the north of government forces this year. Liquor running isn't so successful in cold weather.

The battle against bootleggers now shifts to the balmy south. Immediately following the New Jersey campaign, it was indicated in Washington that by December 1, most of the available federal forces would be concentrated in this general vicinity.

And now, to add to the woes of rummers working from the Bahamas and other wet points in Atlantic and Gulf waters, it has been announced that Uncle Sam's coast guard destroyers, which war on liquor and alien smugglers along the Atlantic seaboard will be at home off St. Petersburg from January until well along in April for winter gunnery practice.

Twenty-four boats will have had a fling at floating targets in the Gulf of Mexico, and 2,000 men will have sharpened their shooting eyes at land targets by the time the show is over.

For the small arms practice the finest coast guard target range in the United States is being completed at Egmont Key, a few miles from St. Petersburg.

The floating targets for guns of the destroyers will be towed to Gulf waters out of the channels of commercial vessels by the Sankoe, which has a crew of 80 men.

The destroyers will come from bases as far north as Boston in divisions of six. Each division will spend 15 or 20 days here.

Division 3 will be the first to take a hand at pummeling the targets. In this group, arriving January 5, will be the destroyers Conyngham, Wainwright, Paulding, Burrows, Jouett and Beale.

Destroyers of Division 1 from New London, Conn., will be second, arriving February 6. The boats are the Shaw, Tucker, Davis, Downes, Erickson and Cummings.

Division 2 destroyers, arriving March 13, are the MacDougal, Porter, Patterson, Roe, Terry and Ammen.

The practice will be wound up by destroyers of Division 4 from New London, arriving April 17. In this group are the Cassin, Henley, Trippe, McCall, Monaghan and Fanning.

In addition to the destroyer fleet, smaller coast guard craft from the Gulf and lower Atlantic coast are expected off St. Petersburg for gunnery practice.

St. Petersburg and coast guardmen of Base 21 here, the largest base in southern waters, have planned a series of social affairs for the gunners. Com. C. G. Roemer is in charge of the St. Petersburg base.

Rich Man Pays

Pay the poor rich man. Rich men's children are sometimes pitied because they are so closely watched by government and taxes, but give a thought to father, who is under the stern finger of his public relations counsel. Witness, for instance, this story of an American chessman, who bought a world-famous painting a few years ago. Inasmuch as he intended to bequest the painting to a museum, the millionaire thought it would be a fine idea if the public were acquainted with the fact that he had bought it. It was a very expensive piece of art. The matter of publicity was passed on to the public relations counsel, who immediately vetoed it. "Times are hard," he told his employer, "and it won't help public regard for you if it becomes known that you have spent so much money." So the painting remained unheralded for many years, until the present era of prosperity brought the public to its current devil-may-care attitude.

Amazing Golfers

Golf clubs are becoming bitter reactionaries against aviation—I mean clubs whose courses lie near air fields. Nothing will make a man dub a tee shot or fizzle hopelessly in the rough so much as a playful plane cartwheeling not so far above his head. There is a real feud between members of one golf club and the adherents of Roosevelt Field No. 1. The pilots, the golfers maintain, find it altogether too easy to land on their fairways, and the tail end of a plane kicks up more dirt than a whole army of duffers. They have been threatening to erect a spite fence, which would force pilots to take off in a direction away from the golf course.

Feminine Secret

The other day a truly charming woman confided to me a secret that should be the despair of perfumers, whose scents cost $25 to $100 an ounce. She has been, she said, the envy of all her feminine acquaintances, who have been wondering where she finds the distinctive, elusive and disturbing perfume that she uses.

"I used to tell them what it was when they asked me," she said, "but none of them seemed at all grateful for the tip. I'll tell you, however, even though you didn't ask me, because it will interest men. It's barbers' talcum powder—the kind that comes in big tin cans.

"About a year ago I had to catch a train in a hurry, and I forgot to take any face powder along. I dashed into the railroad station barber shop, and asked if they had any powder. They sold me one of those big cans. It isn't as good as women's face powder, but you men certainly do know your perfumes."

More Fish

The goldfish, they tell me, is coming back in style. A generation ago every house had its aquarium in the parlor, and it was usually a very elaborate aquarium. Then goldfish passed from popularity, and the parlor aquarium found its way into the junk shop or the trash heap. But now the shiny little fish are in greater demand than ever. Instead of being put on display in the parlor, however, they are put in private outdoor ponds and pools. Nearly every suburban home has at least a bird bath set in the lawn, and fish ponds are to be found even in small yards. These places, naturally, are fine housekeeping sites for mosquitoes. Goldfish simply dote on mosquito larvae—hence the present demand. There is, I am told, one gold fish for every five persons in the United States.

The Ready Answer

As often happens on Broadway, a well-known actor and his frau recently had a bottle and he indignantly stamped out of the house, returning about five o'clock in the morning. In the meantime, his wife's temper had not cooled off during his absence. When she examined his summer palm beach suit the next morning she discovered traces of lip stick on it and this kept her at a boiling point throughout the day until his return at dinner time. In fact, it was a hot day and did not serve to cool her off at all. As he came in she said: "Did you know there was lip stick on the suit you wore last night?" To which he replied nonchalantly: "That's easily fixed; send it to the cleaners."

Whitman gave was a loud and violent explosion.

Soldier Under Five Flags
In 31 Years Serves U. S.

San Antonio, Texas.—A soldier of fortune, William O. McIlhenny, known as "Old Bill," has served under five flags in the last 31 years. At eighteen, he fought with Roosevelt's rough riders at Santiago. Later he took part in a Honduras revolution, fought pirates in the Indian ocean and served in the World war after three governments.

McIlhenny, a full-blooded Chesapeake Indian, first joined the French Foreign Legion. He was wounded, and later joined the British army. With the Canadian army he went back to France, was wounded, recovered, and enlisted in the United States army in 1918.

Ginkgo Tree UnchangedThrough the Centuries

The ginkgo has an ancient history found in the wonder book of the rocks. It has come down to the present, scientists say, for perhaps ten million years so little changed that it is difficult, if not indeed impossible, to find any essential difference between the fossil leaf impressions that were buried in the mud millions of years ago and the leaves from the living tree.

The family group of the ginkgo was at one time abundant and widely distributed, as the records of the rocks show, but it is now represented, botanists say, by a single species, ginkgo biloba, so different from any other tree that it forms a group all alone. A striking feature of the tree is its variation of leaf in size and outline. The large bilobed leaves, found on the long branches, recall most clearly the ancestral forms. The leaves of the short sprig-like shoots are smaller and more gently lobed, while the fruiting branches are conspicuous for clusters of small leaves entirely without lobes. On close examination all of these leaves are extended like a lady's fan, but were delicately constructed.

Male Hornbill True to Mate in Confinement

The nesting habits of the rhinoceros hornbill, a large and peculiar bird of the Malay peninsula, Borneo and Sumatra, are said to be very extraordinary. After pairing, the hornbill selects a hollow tree, which the female enters. Then, with the assistance of the male, which remains outside, the female walls up the entrance with mud and other materials until only a small slit is left open, through which she can thrust her long, narrow bill. During the entire period of laying and incubating the eggs and the growth of the young to the flying age, the female remains imprisoned in the trunk. The male, free on the outside to do as he pleases, remains nevertheless faithful to his mate, returning frequently with food, which he deposits in her bill through the slit in the trunk, and otherwise assiduously attends to her needs.

Bagpipes in History

That bagpipes did not originate in Scotland is revealed in an article in Time, the Newsmagazine. "The bagpipe has a place in Genesis," says Time. "In Egypt it was called the as-it and was piped ceremonially. In Rome it was called sibia utricularia. Colleges were formed for its instruction. Here piped, invading Romans took it to Britain. Early Britons named it the choros. Inherent pipers carried it farther into the Highlands and Ireland. The weird Gaelic music appealed to Celtic and Gaelic imagination and struck with them." According to Time both Marie Antoinette and Henry VIII piped, while Schubert and Handel wrote pieces for it. King George greatly enjoys the music of his royal piper, as did Queen Victoria.

Red Hair in Disfavor

Red hair was as popular in ancient Egypt and evidently no delight either. Some of the female mummies discovered in the Nile delta are coiffed in smartly made black wigs which suggest their own natural auburn tresses.

Fair skin was much admired. The helms of antiquity used a mixture of white lead to whiten their faces and hands. Also, they used the juice of the fragrant, freshly plucked lemon as a bleach. Clifton Harry Levy, in the New York World.

Both "Thirty-Two"

According to Jean and Jean, two sixteen-year-old twins, answering questions about their parents rather innocently, because they happened to be wearing a size 36 shoe, they are both "thirty-two."

"How old are both of you girls?" Jean correctly replied: "Both of us are thirty-two."

"Thirty-two?" the new girl asked, "why don't you look as though you were more than sixteen?"

Old-Time Intemperance

James McNeill's intemperance in 1917, the first to be held outdoors since Washington's in 1793, when it was the famous "Era of Good Feeling" of the early part of the last century. When McNeill was inaugurated in 1900, his drunken pupils, it was thought, would be gathered to see the procession pass.

Financial and Commercial

New York, Nov. 8 (AP).—Stock prices rallied briskly at the opening of today's market and then fell back sharply on what appeared to be the sale of support stock purchased yesterday and profit-taking by professional traders who were disinclined to stay long of the market over the two-day holiday. Trading was back to its normal volume, although the Exchange was again opened only for three hours.

Early gains in the leaders ran from 1 to 10 points, with a few specialties showing larger advances, on buying influenced by the sustained recovery in yesterday's session, and the unexpected large drop of $55,000,000 in Federal Reserve brokers' loans. The demand quickly tapered off, however, and prices began to recede around the end of the first hour, many of the early gains being cancelled, and a number converted into losses of 1 to 5 points.

Call money remained unchanged at 6 per cent, with the demand moderate. Time money was in fair supply at the same rate for all maturities. U. S. Steel common was again the bellwether of the market. Opening unchanged at 17 1/2, the stock advanced to 17 3/4, broke to 17 1/2 and then crossed 17 1/2 on the rebound. Auburn Auto lost most of an initial gain of 31 points. American Telephone, Sears Roebuck, Johns Manville, General Electric, Radio and several of the other leaders lost their early gains and sold one to 5 points lower. Union Pacific dropped nearly 10 points.

At the weather bureau it was stated that this form of gambling is not a new one except as it concerns the Capital.

"We have had considerable trouble in several cities, especially in St. Louis, which seems to be the center of this form of gambling, where attempts have been made to bribe officials of the weather bureau to issue false temperature reports," William Weber, chief clerk of the bureau, declared.

Attempts at Bribery.

Mr. Weber declared that in some cities bribes running as high as $1,000 have been offered weather bureau officials for the issuance of false figures applied by persons anxious to make a killing in the weather report gambling.

In St. Louis, he said, the situation was such that the bureau made agreements with newspapers that the latter were not to accept any reports from the weather bureau that showed signs of frost.

Temperature figures while they were on route from the bureau to the newspaper offices in the hands of copy boys had been uncovered from time to time.

"Regardless of the gambling on these figures, we can't very well withhold such important information from the public," Mr. Weber stated.

Flyer Leaps Canal Locks
in First Plane Passage

Salinas, Cal., Nov. 8.—The first seaplane ever to pass through the Panama canal avoided payment of tolls by hopping over the locks.

Loaded with 2,500 issues of "The Panama American" for distribution on the Atlantic side of the isthmus, the plane's pilot, Capt. Jack Miller, of the Isthmian Airways, found he would have to take off in a blinding tropical rain season equal in order to get the papers to Colon and Cristobal readers before breakfast. Reaching Miraflores, the plane speeded up and hopped over Miraflores locks, landing in the artificial Miraflores lake only to hop again and wing its way over Pedro Miguel locks. Through Gaillard cut and Gatun lake the plane churned the canal waters. Reaching Gatun locks it made a third and last hop before taxiing out into the Caribbean and to the Isthmian hangars at Folks river inlet.

The plane left the Pacific at 6:20 a. m. and reached the Atlantic side at 7:45 a. m., traversing the 47 miles of the canal in 80 minutes.

With Romeo in hand, Everett Carl Bishop asked her to marry him on a night in March, 1923, at 7:45 o'clock. Fifteen minutes later a minister had intoned the words that made them one. Fifteen minutes later Bishop said, "Good-night, Mrs. Bishop," and was gone.

Auto Goes Through Guard Rail Into Moscov Creek

State Troopers were called to Glenview Falls to investigate an automobile accident. An Essex car owned by a Glenside resident crashed through the guard rail and ran down a steep bank, landing in the Moscov creek. At the point where the car crashed through the fence the bank is almost perpendicular and at the foot there are several feet of water. The car landed on its wheels and was partially submerged. One of the occupants was injured. Later in the morning the Glenview Garage hauled the car from the creek.

Painting of an additional 1,400 miles of white center lines will be done by the California highway department in the next two years.

FIND NEW GAMBLING SCHEME IN CAPITALPool Is Based on Weather Bureau Reports.

Washington.—Daily temperatures of the United States weather bureau have been revealed as the newest vehicle for large-scale gambling operations in the Capital, worked by the operators of the "numbers" game, whose activities, continued to the daily report of the New York clearing house, have been badly crippled by the campaign recently undertaken by the United States attorney's office.

Through the scores of runners, who have been collecting the bets and attending to the pay offs for the backers of the clearing house "numbers" game, went the word recently that a new pool, based on the weather report, would be started and offers were made of prizes ranging from $500 to a few cents for the winners in the pool. An outlay of 50 cents for a week's play was all that was asked.

Like Baseball Pool.

Resembling more the baseball pool gambling that flourished here until the "numbers" game came into tremendous vogue with the gambling fraternity, the weather report gambling was reported in sporting circles to have already caught the fancy of many of the small sum wagers, who have been the principal clients of the "numbers" operators during the brief popularity that form of gambling has enjoyed here.

According to one runner, the backers of the weather report gambling will take almost any sort of bet on the temperatures as issued to the newspapers by the weather bureau.

They advertise a wide range of combinations of figures available for the gambler to place his money on, and promise to pay handsomely to the winner in regularly worked out systems similar to those instituted in the "numbers" game.

At the weather bureau it was stated that this form of gambling is not a new one except as it concerns the Capital.

"We have had considerable trouble in several cities, especially in St. Louis, which seems to be the center of this form of gambling, where attempts have been made to bribe officials of the weather bureau to issue false temperature reports," William Weber, chief clerk of the bureau, declared.

AGED PRISONER ASKS NO FAVORSNearly Eighty, Man Says He's "Not Done Yet."

San Francisco.—While most of the elderly prisoners at San Quentin prison view themselves as the privilege of taking life easy in the "old man's ward," the oldest inmate of those all, nearly eighty, works eight hours a day and sleeps like the majority of the convicts in the large cell blocks.

Deceived at the prison in April on a charge of passing stolen checks in Yolo county, P. R. Graham was offered a bed with the other convicts in the quarters which used to house the women prisoners. Here 35 weary old-timers are allowed to spend their remaining days in peace and quiet, listening to the radio, smoking and playing dominoes.

"Not for me. I'm not done by a long shot yet," the gray-haired arrival announced and requested of John H. Carpenter, captain of the yard, that he be allowed to go to work "same as anyone else."

He was permitted to choose which of the prison industries he would engage in and selected the furniture factory. For months he has labored industriously learning the rudiments of the trade, and he is to be allowed to design and make his own pieces.

The seventy-nine-year-old clerk has no previous prison record known to San Quentin authorities.

Return of Arctic Forest
Predicted After Survey

Tacoma, Wash.—Logging in the shadow of the North pole is only a matter of time. Tree growth toward the north is not limited by climatic conditions, declares Robert Marshall of the United States forestry service, but by the fact that such vegetation has not recovered the ground lost when it was swept away during the glacial period.

It will be a slow process, but tree growth is being established again on the Arctic slope, assert the scientists. With Al Hietari, forestry expert, Marshall passed the last summer in the Koyukuk and Kobuk river region of northwest Alaska, studying the stunted tree growth. They passed hours on their hands and knees peering at the tiny struggling specimens of spruce, hemlock and balsam. Both concluded trees are advancing northward and will some day re-cover the barrens as in preglacial eras.

There are three classes of chewing insects, says Nature Magazine, namely, those that feed upon foliage in the open, those that roll the foliage, and those that feed on the inside of the stems. In addition, of course, there are chiggers.

Preventives seem to be fairly well organized against one kind of war. Chinese residents are warned that if they contemplate another of those long wars, they positively will be deported and compelled to do their working in some other country.

Principals at Kiwanis Club

The Kiwanis Club Thursday held one of the most interesting, informative as well as inspirational meetings of the year. Paul Zucca was at his best, of course, for he will now occupy a seat in the common council of the city. Mayne Pant will jazz up that body a little in the new year. Then, too, at nearly every table sat a principal or two from the various schools of the city, so the club had a good representation of the "intelligentsia". Kiwanis sets aside one meeting a year at least to consider matters educational. Dr. Myron J. Michael, superintendent of schools, Professor B. C. Van Ingen, principal of the high school, and all the other principals were called on to rise and were cordially greeted by the members of the club. "Bob" Service introduced them one by one.

Dr. Michael spoke to the subject, "The Proposed New Addition to the High School." It was an encouraging report. Members of the board are back of this project unanimously, and are expecting to see work begun by the end of this month and completed by the opening of the new school year, next September. He stated also how the building was to be financed. How exceptionally low the school budget was compared with other cities, that it was far less than one per cent of the assessed valuation of the city. Dr. Michael's short address was received with rapt attention and rounds of applause.

Principal Cullen, of School No. 3, spoke for his brother principals. It was a heart to heart preachment to fathers, actual and potential, on certain rights and responsibilities of parents and teachers. Inculcating in the mind of the youth the fundamental law of obedience. The second was teaching the child a sense of responsibility to the home, and to those outside the home. The third point was responsibility to God. Too many children are being raised in an atmosphere of unreligion if not irreligion. Do not neglect the religious life in the bringing up of the children. Again, the parent, by example and precept, should teach the child respect for law. Obey the law while it is law. Obey in little things as well as in the greater. Fifth, train him to be honorable, courteous and obliging. We have too many that are guilty of the "hog-out" on the street, in forbidden parking space, in attitude toward others. It is too frequently the street against the church, the home and the school.

Committees were appointed to visit every school in the city. Three men to each committee. Dr. Michael welcomed this happy suggestion and offered to convey each committee to the school assigned. The president of the club, Lucius Doty, Dr. Lucas Boere and Fred Chissey were appointed as committee to visit the high school. It was a meeting again full of enthusiasm.

300 Endangered By Fire Bug

Syracuse, Nov. 8 (AP).—Police here today sought an alleged "fire bug" who late last night set fire to two rooms in the Yates Hotel while approximately 300 guests were asleep. The man, known only as "A. Parker," was trailed from Auburn to Syracuse to the hotel here and later to the New York Central station, where he was believed to have left on a sleeper for New York city.

The man sought registered at the hotel shortly before midnight last night and checked out within a few minutes. Several minutes later fire alarm bells on the fourth floor clanged.

United States Navy Band Here

President Hoover's signed permission alone makes it possible for the people of Kingston to hear the United States Navy Band. Every fall the band is permitted by official authority to play a limited number of concert engagements outside of Washington. This season, by special arrangement, the United States Navy Band will give two concerts in this city on November 12.

Under the able leadership of Lieut. Charles Benter, the United States Navy Band has attained an enviable place for itself in the realm of band music. Before the World War the United States Navy had no representative band. There were a number of naval bands attached to individual battleships—but there was no great official organized band such as the present United States Navy Band. That sprang into existence shortly after the war. On the very day of his inauguration, March 4, 1925, President Coolidge signed the act of congress giving the United States Navy Band official status as the premier musical organization of the United States Navy—a status that it has truly earned in the few short active years of its existence.

It fell to the lot of Lieut. Charles Benter to organize and direct this representative organization. It was a problem. But Lieut. Benter approached his task with the reverence and respect that it demanded and the present United States Navy Band is the result. To truly represent the navy of the United States Lieut. Benter realized that something far superior to the average military band was required. He wanted only the world's best musicians were worthy of such a task. He went about securing them.

Today the United States Navy Band is composed of picked men from the country's leading bands. Such names as Ostrow, Meyer and Goucher are an indication of the high caliber of musical ability that has been assembled under the leadership of Lieut. Benter. Critics who have heard the United States Navy Band proclaim it to be one of the outstanding military band organizations in existence today. In Washington its concerts are attended by the President, his cabinet, government officials, diplomats and musicians of international prominence. To gain the appreciation of such an audience the highest type of band performance is necessary. To understand just how highly the United States Navy Band is held by important officials in the nation's capital one has only to look at the weekly schedule of performance. At all important functions, in all patriotic parades, and its series of winter musical concerts, the United States Navy Band takes a high place in the popular choice of diplomat, captain, leader and department head. It is one of the representative bands of the United States government.

Realize Great Responsibility

And when the United States Navy Band goes out on its annual fall tour every man realizes the great responsibility under which he is placed. A great deal is expected of the performers. Audiences wait with eager anticipation the coming of this organization—they expect to find in its inspiring music something of the spirit, the greatness, the heroic impulses

MINER'S WIFE ASKS SHARE IN MILLIONS

Claims She and Brother Are Heirs to Estate.

Louis, Ky.—An invalid coal miner's wife, Mrs. George Frith, and her brother, Homer Lester, both of Pond Creek, in the mountains near here, have instituted legal proceedings to gain their share of an estate valued at $200,000,000, left by their great-grandfather, George Boothe, in England. They have been advised that the estate will be divided soon.

The woman and her brother say they are direct descendants of Boothe who left Sandwich, Kent, and came to America, settling at Gloucester, Va., about 1700. He had a large estate and added to it in America, depositing the funds in England, where value has grown through the years.

British authorities, Mrs. Frith says, several years ago advertised for claimants to the estate of the venerable man, but Mrs. Frith said legal papers held by herself and her brother were lost, delaying the filing of their claim until recently.

The woman and her brother, Asa H. Boothe, of Christiansburg, Va., have retained counsel in Washington and New York to represent them, she said. Mrs. Frith said her great-grandfather left eight children at his death in 1873 and that there are believed to be forty or fifty heirs to a part of the estate. The wealthy man was buried in Floyd county, Virginia.

The Pond Creek woman and her brother believe they will inherit between $200,000,000 and $120,000,000 each as their share, Mrs. Frith said her attorneys had informed her.

Beard Ornaments

The Field museum at Chicago has a number of interesting articles which are made of the white beards of old men. When a man too young to grow a white beard wanted to make one of these ornaments he prevailed upon one of his elderly relatives to part with his beard or hired an old man outside his family to grow one for him.

Last Hour for Many

The zero hour during the World war was the hour at which some special movement, such as an attack or assault, was to be commenced. The exact time of such an attack was kept secret at headquarters so that no information should leak out, and in the meanwhile was referred to as "zero."

that have inspired the great deeds of our navy. And maybe it is the attempt to express these stirring themes that makes the music of the United States Navy Band so different—so thrillingly and intensely gripping even to those who never before responded to melody. A critic writes: "The United States Navy Band has a balance and rhythm all of its own. With exquisite skill it swings into its full volume, or shades off instantly into the smoother passages. That means skill, artistry, leadership. To this critic, the great band seemed to perform as a group of finished artists, disciplined by the restrictions of the navy, but inspired by its gallant traditions."

Music lovers of this city are truly appreciative of President Hoover's concession in allowing the United States Navy Band to include Kingston in its fall tour. It is a splendid reflection on the high musical standards of Kingston audiences that the army has been selected as the setting for two concerts by that renowned organization.

NATOR GLASS WANTS
RESERVE ACT AMENDED

Washington, Nov. 8 (P).—Amendment of the Federal Reserve Act is mandatory upon the Federal Reserve Board to assert its authority to prevent by penalization such as in stock gambling operations as have recently disgraced the market. It was advocated today by Senator Glass of Virginia, a former associate secretary of the treasury. Senator Glass last spring called for the Federal Reserve Board to amend the National City Bank of New York, as a member of the Board of Directors of the New York Federal Reserve Bank on the ground that he had called the board to order for its failure to act at a critical time in the market operation.

Proposed Super-State of Europe Offers Interesting Geographic Comparison.

Washington, Nov. 8 (P).—How would a United States of Europe, the new super-state proposed at Geneva, compare with the United States of America?

"Irrespective of its political aspects or its feasibility, the suggestion affords an opportunity for an interesting geographic comparison," says a bulletin of the National Geographic Society from its headquarters in Washington, D. C.

"As proposed the European federation would number 27 sovereign states. Russia is omitted. Principalities like Monaco and Liechtenstein, also San Marino, and Andorra and the Free City of Danzig do not come within the scope of the following comparisons.

"The United States of America is one and one-half times greater in area," says the bulletin, "but citizens of the United States of Europe would outnumber Americans in the proportion of 3 to 1.

"The Texas of 'U. S. E.' would be France; Luxembourg its Rhode Island. Both are smaller than their American counterparts, but only slightly smaller.

"Relative size raises a question which will stump most Americans. It is this: of the four biggest American states, how many are larger than the four largest European countries excluding Russia? The answer: One. France the European Texas.

"Giant Texas is larger than France but only one-fifth larger. California, Montana, and New Mexico are each smaller in area than Spain, Germany or Sweden.

"So much geographic instruction stresses the smallness of Europe by American standards that it is surprising to discover that Holland is larger than Maryland, that Finland would carve into three New York states, and that the total square miles of Oregon and of the Serb, Croat, Slovene state are nearly identical.

"Striking contrasts between Europe and America turn up in the field of population. In the United States the average number of persons per square mile is 85; in Europe, 127. Nevada more than twenty times as many persons to each square mile as Nevada, equally unpopulated, most European states have a population of 400 persons to each square mile. For Rhode Island and Massachusetts are each more densely inhabited, according to some, than the United Kingdom or Germany.

"A United Europe's most powerful shadows America tremendously. All the people of the six most populous American states: New York, Pennsylvania, Illinois, Ohio, Texas and California, number 8,000,000 less than the population of Germany. Little Luxembourg, lost in Europe like a slice of olive in a cream cheese sandwich, has more citizens than Wyoming."

"Should Europe ever federate America can refer to the 'U. S. E.' as her northern neighbor. If all Europe were brought down to the latitude level of the United States, the Strait of Gibraltar would lie on the Equator, 2,000 miles south of its present position.

"Disparity of latitude, however, does not prevent parity in climate. Except for the aridness of the Southwest, America's climates are much like Europe's.

"Some of the same problems that brought about the union of the thirteen American colonies make Europe turn toward federation. Thirteen colonies with thirteen tariffs prompted the drafters of the American Constitution to abolish economic borders. Twenty-seven European nations have twenty-seven different schemes for tariffs that make every border a trade hurdle.

Money, Tariffs and Stamps.

"Within an area two-thirds the size of the United States there are twenty-six different money systems (Luxembourg uses Belgian money), twenty-seven different sets of postage stamps, and twenty-seven different immigration regulations. Another international aggravation faces the continental automobile driver: in some countries he must keep to the left of the road, in others to the right. While railway gauges have been unified for the most part, Spain still has one-third her mileage in narrow gauge roads.

"A 'U. S. E.' has the long-lived Roman empire and the short-lived Holy Roman empire for precedents. In recent times the metric system has been accepted by all Europe except the United Kingdom and the Irish Free State.

"Unlike the problems of American union in 1776 in Europe's history of governments. The thirteen colonies had more or less similar governments. Europe's twenty-seven states have a most every style of government possible: republics, limited monarchies, unlimited monarchies, dictatorships, dominion states—each with variations. Two states of Europe are already 'United States.' Germany is a union of eighteen self-governing states and cities. Switzerland is the oldest federal union in the world."

Too Much Gas

Philadelphia.—As the result of putting four gallons of gas instead of three, as was ordered, in Fred J. Pradella's car, Ernest Roe was shot dead by Pradella, police say.

Science now knows everything about influenza except how to prevent it. The industrious director-general of health in Australia has just been following the trail of last winter's influenza epidemic, and has found the cause of all the trouble in the Friendly Isles, which lie in the sunny South Sea, about twenty-five miles from the Fiji group. The bacillus apparently began to spread and multiply in this delightful spot, which was first reported to the outer world by Captain Cook.

It is not necessary to understand everything about many things we use every day. The housewife does not understand the ultimate nature of carbohydrates, the farmer cannot solve the mystery of a growing seed, nor can the chemist explain the ultimate nature of matter. Yet we use these things successfully every day.

A Canadian surgeon has kept a cat alive with a rubber heart. A rubber heart would have certain advantages, we should say, for a young lady in love, there being room for everybody.

Oil is reported to have been found in Wild Cat, Alberta. This is considered the happiest coincidence since Rocky Ford became a center of the melon industry.

Army Boxers Set For Bouts Here Tonight

The National Guardsmen scheduled to appear in the ring wars at the armory tonight are prepared to give the fans a brand of action that will keep them on edge throughout the fight program. Big Bill Freeman, who meets Jack Robinson of Kansas City, Mo., especially plans on doing some of the most active ring war that he ever did.

Freeman, a West Point regular, will have to do more than his share of fighting to show the man from Missouri that he is the superior ring-man. Robinson is rated as a tough customer and from all accounts will be tougher and rougher than ever tonight. He was matched with Freeman to stop Big Bill's march to regain the heavy crown.

Although the feature promises plenty of action it will not occupy the limelight alone if the semi-final between Johnny Hayes of Connecticut and Roy Asher of West Point furnishes the action that the battle of two weeks ago did, when Hayes severely outboxed Asher.

The battle between Roy Revis of New York and Gunner Smith of Connecticut also gives promise of being a slashing affair. The boys are heavyweights and the method of conducting ring campaigns. The fight is scheduled for six rounds but all indications point to an earlier finish.

Frency Dawg of this city and Jerry Trought, another local boy, who made his debut a successful one by knocking out Charlie Garrison two weeks ago, will be on tonight. Their opponents have been reversed. "Dawg" taking on Arturo, who was scheduled to meet Trought, instead of Kid Eckert. The latter will exchange wallop with Trought, whose hitting ability demands that he have a tough opponent in order to make the fight last longer than the first round.

There will be 32 rounds in all if the card goes the limit. Those who contemplate on getting seats for the fight show are advised to be at the armory early as all indications point to a record crowd.

Duke University, the baby member of the Southern conference, in half a year's competition won titles in baseball and wrestling and was runner-up in basketball and boxing.

Cecil Urbanak of Fairmont, W. Va., who set the sports fans talking this spring by executing, unassisted, a triple put-out play, is trying for the varsity football team at University of Kentucky.

Mickey Cochran's brother, Archie, is trying for a halfback berth on the Duke University freshmen eleven.

More than half of the Latin American republics signified their intention of participating in the second Latin-American Olympic games in Havana early next year.

Two gentlemen of the squared circle are on the Tulane team this year. They are Jack Pizarro, captain of the university boxing team, and Red Haas, southern conference middleweight champ.

With a view of forming a stud farm, it is believed, Count John McCormack will transfer his race horses from Ireland to England at the end of the present season.

Easton, Mo., high school began its basketball season with a 13 to 4 victory over Oak Grove. Carl Younger threw 25 field goals.

Frank Whitney, star lightweight boxer 20 years ago, will be a Republican candidate for sheriff of Linn county, Iowa, next June. Whitney, who fought at 133 pounds, now scales at 225.

Douglas Graydon, Georgia Tech sophomore, who has been on the injured list, is back in a football uniform. He gained fame as a high school javelin hurler at Little Rock, Ark.

Lena Styles, once a catcher with the A's and now in the International loop, got his name in a funny way. Down in Alabama the fans used to yell: "Lean on it," when he went to the bat. This soon shortened to "Lena."

The latest sporting development in democratic Germany is a tennis tournament arranged for the ball boys of the Mannheim Club.

Highland Starts Season Tonight

Highland Hose Company's quintet will start the basketball season at Smith's Hall, Highland, tonight by opposing Spinnys' Radio Five of Port Ewen. The game promises to be a real interesting one after which there will be dancing. Tony Turck's orchestra will furnish music.

Highland will start with the following lineup: Jimmy Merritt of Kingston and Mickey Husta, former Metropolitan League player, who now resides here, forwards; Maury McDermott of Kingston Colonial baseball team, center; Pete Brooks of this city, who captained Highland last season, and Hasbrouck of Highland, guards.

OPEN NEGOTIATIONS WITH JACK SHARKEY.

Chicago, Nov. 8 (AP).—The Chicago Stadium has opened negotiations with Jack Sharkey, Boston pretender to the vacant world heavyweight throne, for a match early next year. The management hopes to match the winner of the Tuffy Griffith-Paulino Uzuadun bout, which will be decided in the Stadium November 23, with the victor of the Otto Von Porat-Phil Scott bout at New York, the winner of the elimination to fight Sharkey. Harmon's offer is $50,000 and a percentage of the gate. Sharkey's price is a flat guarantee of $75,000, which may ruin the Stadium's plan.

K. H. S. Eleven Meets Newburgh Team Saturday

"Boys, don't become over-confident, nothing more could grip a team or be more directly responsible for its downfall," said Coach Kias to his men just before he put them through a tough scrimmage Thursday night at the Athletic Field. With a team like Newburgh to face Saturday the Maroon and White cannot afford to discard any of its football strategy if it expects to take this grid battle and the DUSO League crown. The game will be played at the Kingston Fair Grounds starting at 2 o'clock.

This can be considered one of the greatest games that the local high school team has played in years. With a championship but an arm's length away and a perfect record so far this season the Maroon jerseys have everything to fight for and plenty to lose. On the other hand the Hill City team has everything to win and nothing to lose.

Compare Scores. There isn't a coach who will base much on comparing scores, yet everybody pays more or less attention to them, so the following results of games seem to hold some information.

Kingston beat Peekskill, 22-0. Newburgh did the trick, 34-7. What does that indicate. The Maroon and White triumphed over Port Jervis, 6-0, and Spring Valley, 51-0. Newburgh played 7-7 tie with Port Jervis, and a 31-0 victory over Spring Valley. On matching the scores of the last two games it appears as though Kingston might have the edge.

Newburgh Has Long Drill. Coach C. Everett Stevens ran his Yellow and Blue charges through a long drill Thursday afternoon on the Recreation Park gridiron in final preparation for their battle here Saturday. A long signal drill followed by supervised scrimmage, was the main part of the program. At the same time Stevens had a group of players practicing drop and place kick at one of the goals.

Siegel Develops As Kicker. Siegel was among this group practicing kicks. He has developed into a good field goal kicker. In fact he is considered as a sure bet when it comes to sending the pigskin over the bar. This is a great advantage to a team for the extra point after a touchdown has won many a game.

This kicking proposition is something that has been badly neglected by Kingston. The local squad doesn't contain a man that's dependable to kick a point. Clance has only booted two over the bar, this season out of a great many attempts.

Captain Against Captain. On the line Saturday, Captain John Mohr of the Kingston team will meet Captain "Ed" Blake of the Newburgh squad. Both men are the centers and leaders of their team. This will be the third duel in succession for Mohr against captains this season. While Blake will meet his third one in Mohr.

DUSO League Standing. The following is the present standing of the teams of the DUSO League:

	Won	Lost	Tied
Newburgh	0	0	1
Port Jervis	0	0	1
Middletown	0	1	0

Yellow Jacket Lineup to Start Game on Sunday

Coach "Watts" Wheeler of the Yellow Jackets has decided upon the lineup that he will send against the Troy Ramblers Sunday afternoon at the Kingston Fair Grounds. Wheeler's choice of a starting eleven is as follows:

L.E.	Harry Scheffel
L.T.	Phil McDonald
L.G.	Bob "Little" Winkley
Center	Paul Howard
R.G.	J. Henry of Poughkeepsie
R.T.	Earl Terwilliger
R.E.	Vince Rice
Q.B.	Joe Hoffman, Capt.
L.H.B.	Lee Hasbrouck
R.H.B.	"Sergeant" Burton
F.B.	Don Beany

The game according to all indications will be a real good football contest. Having won three out of four contests this year the Ramblers may be judged as a real formidable eleven for the Yellow Jackets who defeated the Albany Cardinals, 6-0, last Sunday and got back on the winning road after two losses.

Three o'clock is the starting time for the game, a feature of which will be the shoeless playing of Stebbins, left end of the Ramblers. It is said that he never wears shoes in a game and is one of the outstanding griders of the outfit.

HIGHEST DAY OF SEASON IN MIDDLE WEST.

Chicago, Nov. 8 (AP).—The ominous quiet preceding storms and wars permeated western conference football camps today in anticipation of tomorrow's brilliant program of games. Headlined by three intercollegiate games and one contest of vital championship importance, the day ranks as the biggest of the season in the middle west. Nearly 300,000 spectators are expected to jam the stadium, with the Michigan-Harvard game at Ann Arbor topping the list in attendance at from $7,000 to $9,000 but not outranking the Illinois-Army struggle at Campagna as a spectacle.

While the Wolverines are attempting by victory over Harvard to salvage something from the wreckage of their worst season since 1919, Illinois goes out to try and avenge last week's defeat by Northwestern.

Grid Games of Great Interest On Saturday

New York, Nov. 8 (AP).—Tomorrow, the second Saturday in November, finds a heavy schedule of climatic or semi-climatic football battles, with the invasion of the west by Army and Harvard offering promise of the most spectacular fray of the day.

The east has plenty of football fare in its own territory but for general interest the palm must go to Army's duel with Bob Zappke's Illinois eleven and Harvard's fray with Michigan.

Despite a disappointing season, marked by a tie with Harvard and a defeat by Yale, the Army appears ready to snatch its first major victory of the year against the Illinois who were beaten by Northwestern last week. Harvard, on paper, appears much stronger than Michigan, which has lost three Big Ten conference games in a row.

At home the intercollegiate contest between Georgia and New York University will vie for interest with such purely domestic encounters as Penn State-Pennsylvania, Dartmouth-Brown, Georgetown-Navy, Colgate-Columbia, Washington and Jefferson-Pittsburgh, Boston College-Fordham, Villanova-Bucknell, Rutgers-Lafayette and among the Little Three, Wesleyan and Williams.

Yale meets Maryland with full expectations of avenging the 6-0 defeat by the southerners last year. Cornell should get more than a workout against Western Reserve, but West Virginia, especially in view of its hard Election Day battle with Fordham, appears doomed to defeat by the heavy Detroit eleven of Gus Dorais, unbeaten over a span of 20 contests and tied only once in that time.

Princeton hopes to achieve its second victory of the season at the expense of Lehigh but the Pennsylvaniaans are looking up after a long period of football depression and may spring a surprise. Lehigh held Penn to a 10-7 score, a neat performance in any season.

Unbeaten teams clash in the Pittsburg and Holy Cross have scheduled games with foes of minor strength, the Orange meeting Niagara and Holy Cross baffling Boston University. Davis and Elkins, another undefeated aggregation, meets a state rival in West Virginia Wesleyan. Duquesne, another of the same class, takes on Catholic.

Villanova, another unbeaten team, may not be in that class after the fray with the rugged Bucknell outfit. The Brown-Dartmouth duel is drawing more interest, perhaps, than it would had Al Marsters been available for Dartmouth quarterback duty. Without "Special Delivery Al" the game assumes a more even aspect.

Syracuse and Holy Cross have scheduled games with foes of minor strength, the Orange meeting Niagara and Holy Cross baffling Boston University. Davis and Elkins, another undefeated aggregation, meets a state rival in West Virginia Wesleyan. Duquesne, another of the same class, takes on Catholic.

BOYS' DIVISION TO SEE EDUCATIONAL PICTURES.

Beginning this evening at 7:30, the Boys' Division at the Y. M. C. A. will run a series of educational movies for the boys in its membership. The title of this week's picture is "The Log of a Labrador". It is a combined travelogue and educational picture, showing the scenic beauties of a sea voyage along the west coast of South America and through the Panama Canal. The "Y" expects to have these educational pictures weekly on Friday nights. There will be none next week, however, as the Father and Son Banquet will be held on Friday night.

Few Authors Then. An authority estimates that in 1922 not more than ten men in the United States made their living by their pen, outside the newspaper.

College Athletes of East Waging Red Hot Warfare

New York, Nov. 8 (AP).—Almost the lonely cross country trails as well as in the football stadiums the college athletes of the east are waging red hot warfare these autumn days.

Penn State's intercollegiate champion team of harriers has made an impressive start, cleaning up New York University and Lehigh in one race and Syracuse in another, despite the loss of its ace, Big Bill Cox, by graduation.

Paul Rakers, who finished only fifty-third in the title chase at Van Cortlandt Park last year, has shown remarkable improvement and has taken the place of Cox as a miliary lion pack. He is nearly two minutes faster over the six-mile route than he was a year ago. A teammate, Dick Dettweiler, who won the freshman crown two years ago, is right on his heels.

Cornell, making a bold bid for cross country glories that were born when such distance cracks as John Paul Jones, Ivan Dresser and R. E. Brown were running all rivals into ground, has yet to meet defeat.

The Red Runners of Ithaca, once supreme, have not won intercollegiate varsity honors, either individual or team, since back in 1921. But under the leadership of Captain Sam Levering of the Hollow, Va., Cornell already has taken the measure of Yale by a count of 19 to 54, and rolled up a perfect score against Alfred, which has a reputation for turning out sterling cross country teams.

Just how well Cornell stacks up against other leading contenders for 1929 honors will be determined here Saturday, when Columbia, Dartmouth, Pennsylvania and Cornell fight it out in their annual quadrangular race over the Van Cortlandt Park hills and dales. This year marks the early season peak of the campaign that will come to a climax with the intercollegiate championship, November 25.

Pennsylvania, with a champion freshman team last year, will be dark horse threat in the big four-cornered feature, as the Quakers have not yet run a race.

With Joe Hagen not quite up to expectations, Columbia lost to Syracuse but beat Johns Hopkins. Dartmouth trailed both Springfield and Harvard in dual meets.

Harvard, which should be favored to trim Yale in their annual run at Cambridge Friday, is still in the unbeaten class. The Crimson accounted for Holy Cross, New Hampshire and Dartmouth without difficulty, and if they can dispose of Yale will come up to the intercollegiate undefeated.

Colgate likewise is in the unbeaten class by virtue of victories over Union, Hobart and Rochester, but was Saturday the Maroon outfit in a race that should show just where it stands as a championship contender. Williams also has done well, trouncing Middlebury and Rensselaer Polytechnic Institute, with Brown and Wesleyan still to be met.

Tom Keane's Syracuse teams always must be given consideration in shutting out Hobart, neatly trimming Columbia and extending Penn State to the limit, the Orange served notice of real strength.

Second to Penn State last year, the University of Maine will have to be reckoned with in spite of a surprising defeat by Bates last week. Others that cannot be counted out are N. Y. U., M. I. T., and Princeton.

"Y" Team Starts Next Tuesday

The Y. M. C. A. basketball team, composed of senior members, several of whom played with the former Chandler outfit when that quintet represented the "Y," will open its season next Tuesday at the Y. M. C. A. court against the Sargenties Community Five.

Chet Fox has been chosen to captain the "Y" team. He will have under his direction, "Bank" Krum, Joe Elise, Joe Dulla and Norm Miles, who were his playing mates on the Chandler team; H. Dittus, formerly a star on the Redeemer Church team; Harold DuBois, a guard on the original Red Shield team; Herbie Mills and Martin Mannelly. The club's roster is still open for those who care to try out.

In picking the Sargenties Community Five as opponents for their opening game the "Y" representatives took a real task upon their shoulders. The Sargenties boys are well versed in the court game, having been the quintet to stop the strong Y's men's Club in their successful war on some of the best clubs in this vicinity last season.

Ancient Finnish Tower. Little remains to identify the early race of people that occupied the British Isles prior to the coming of the Germanic tribes and the beginning of Viking invasions. Some evidences of their civilization are found, however, and among them this Finnish tower, or cradle, on the small island of Moons in the Swedish group. It is about 30 feet high and 100 feet in circumference at the base.

British Royal Household. In Buckingham palace, London, there are more than 200 rooms, including 60 bedrooms (30 for servants), 20 private apartments for the king and 30 for the queen, 30 state apartments and 20 for the royal household. The current staff numbers about 200 men and maid servants. There are about 40 housemaids, a butler and a constant household.

National Horse Show Opening at Madison Garden

Friends of Foreign and American Teams — Exhibition by: Summary C. 16th Field Artillery.

New York, Nov. 8 (AP).—Next door to the pavements of Broadway, alive with motors and ablaze with light, King Horse has once again set up his kingdom with the opening of the National Horse Show at Madison Square Garden.

From Italy, Poland, the Irish Free State and Canada he came, four hundred strong, to challenge the equine royalty of America, and with him came his subjects; a "cabinet" of owners, an army of trainers, the cavalry of his country and a host of grooms and stableboys, and up in the galleries and down in the boxes an admiring throng to watch his antics.

In this age of speed the steed still has his worshippers. Motors and airplanes they use for hurrying, but the horse is still king of their world of pleasure.

As one Wall Street clerk expressed it: "A car" only got two gallops—fast and slow—but a horse has five and every one of 'em is grand."

Park avenue was there, and Wall street, and First avenue and the East side. The boxes were aglitter with jewels, ashtrays with silks. The peanut vendors had the time of their lives.

The Garden itself was arrayed in its honor, decked in the flags of five nations, its arena walls newly painted in pale green.

Up in the bandstand, draped in the orange and black colors of the National Horse Show Association, a military band played tunes from the espers.

A few minutes after 8 Arthur White, the scarlet coated ringmaster—ex-jockey, ex-soldier, ex-prizefighter—stepped into the tankard arena and with his bugle and the evening show was on. Hour-in-hands with passengers in evening dress recalled the society of another day.

There was the black and cream coach "Venture" owned by William H. Vanderbilt, and built in England twenty-five years ago for his father, Alfred Gwynne Vanderbilt, drawn by four dapple grays. There was the yellow and black coach "Bumblebee" with Guy Ward, owner in whip, and there was Victor Lewis's black and red "Liberty" drawn by white horses.

But King Horse was at his best in the ladies' saddle horse event. Six women riders, half of them astride and the other half riding side-saddle, and all in the formal black cravens and tails and tall silk hats of the exhibition habit, put him through his paces. Mrs. James Hewlett, who rode astride, took first place on William H. Nicholls' Southernland Rose.

Then came the parade of the foreign and American teams. To the strains of a military march the white gates of the arena swung open and in rode the officers of the Polish team, three abreast. Next came the prancing bays of the blue coated Italian officers, followed by the Canadians, the cavalymen of the Irish Free State and eight American officers.

The horses, prancing to the center of the tankard ring, halted in a single formation before General Charles A. Summerall, chief of staff of the United States army, while the band played five national airs and their riders saluted the flags.

The exhibition of Battery C, 16th Field Artillery of the United States army, was the most brilliant event of the brilliant show. To the stirring strains of the band, eight caissons whirled into the ring, each drawn by a dozen white horses.

On the driver's seat and on every other horse rode a guard in white breeches and black coat, with black shirt front and three-cornered black hat crossed and recrossed by scarlet ribbons and gold braid.

They charged across the ring, wheeling and turning through lanes of burning torches while the crowd burst into a thunder of applause.

Downstairs, below the brilliant arena, King Horse reigned over his own world, a world of bedded stalls, jingling spurs and silver mounted bridles, of grooms and trainers and breeders.

Huddled in corners they discussed his future. Will he be banished by motors and airplanes and speedboats? Not, they said, while there is an English language. He is bringing more money today than he ever did before. He's coming back with new power to the track and the hunt and the bridle path.

New York, Nov. 8 (AP)—Support for President Hoover in his efforts to secure for the peoples of the earth a lasting and honorable peace was pledged by the executive committee of the Camp Fire Girls of the United States in a telegram sent the child executives today.

The message said that the American girls' organization, which has a membership of approximately 250,000, will invite a similar interest on the part of the sister organization in England. "In order that through the influence of the English speaking peoples of the world war may become a forgotten vehicle for the adjustment of international differences."

FAMILY SEEN BY RIDE ON SUNDAY

Start Soon After Dinner as Possible to Avoid Large Crowd.

For those men who complain that they see too little of their families, a Sunday afternoon motor ride is just the thing, according to Francis F. Peirce, writing in the Household Magazine. They will never complain again.

"The object, of course," writes Mr. Peirce, "is to start as soon after dinner as possible in order to get ahead of the crowd, but as every one has the same object in view, the crowd very logically meets on the highway. That is, all except the slowest cars, which by a strange contradiction, get there first and lead the procession. But once in the lead, they seem to give up trying.

Mother on Rear Seat.

"The mother should be placed on the rear seat, so that nothing can occur behind her back. There she can feel the fullest force of the jolt when the father shifts from high to second, keep a lookout for cars approaching from the right, left, front or rear, determine when to pass a car, detect the odor which smells like the brakes burning, separate the children before they come to blows and in between times reiterate her suspicion that one of the rear tires is flat. She would naturally offer timely and valuable warnings and make constructive suggestions to the father on what he is doing wrong, as a good helmsman should.

"Fresh air is famous for its beneficial quality. To insure a supply on the motor ride, all the windows of the car should be tightly closed on leaving home before the exhaust from the car ahead has time to get in its deadly work.

"After a time, even the best motorist grows monotonous. Energetic children may be expected to grow restless. However, they can find relief by hurling inflammatory remarks at each other and by tampering with the door handles. They must be warned that if they persist, they will never be taken for a ride again. The threat must be made in as convincing a manner as possible and just as if it had not been uttered on every preceding ride and as yet had not been enforced.

Vacation Needed.

"Mothers who go for a ride," concludes the writer, "will return more than ever persuaded of the need of a vacation away from the children which is something gained. Fathers will have satisfied the yearning to see more of their children. If they are the wrong sort of fathers, they may even ponder the advantages to be derived if 'taking the family for a ride' had something of the meaning it has among gangsters in Chicago."

Motorist Should Think

Before Leaving Trash

No motorist would think of cluttering up his front lawn with empty cans, wrapping paper and bits of garbage, yet that is exactly what some car owners do when they visit camping or picnic grounds, points out Charles M. Hayes, president of the Chicago Motor Club.

"It would be well for motorists to remember that if they would place refuse after a picnic in the receptacles that are usually to be found for that purpose, the grounds would appear far more inviting to the next car owner that arrives," continued Mr. Hayes. "Leaving trash in the open is a sign of thoughtlessness and discourtesy. Picnickers who are imbued with a sense of the fitness of things and the rights of others will see to it that the ground they have occupied is clean before they leave."

PLAN RECOVERY OF AUTOMOBILE OIL

Scientists of the bureau of standards at Washington are testing a new system of refining oil which has been drained from automobile crankcases and making it again usable. The plant consists of a still and condenser and a series of containers in which the various grades of oil are separated, which in turn is connected to a vacuum pump.

If the device proves as practical on a large scale as it is said to have in the tests, a new and important saving will be effected in motor car operation.

Dr. Winslow H. Herschel of the bureau is seen with the model plant which is being tested at the bureau.

Worry Over Water Loss Entirely Unnecessary

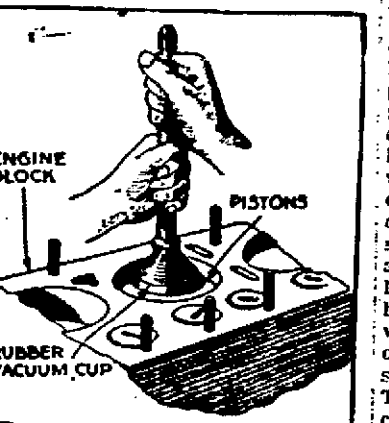

Worrying over loss of water in the radiator and cooling system has become part of the process of car ownership for many motorists. Despite all their efforts to keep the system filled and tight, a certain amount of water is lost daily, regardless of the length of the run.

It should be good news to such motorists that their trouble is merely the result of being too eager to keep the radiator full.

Whenever a car owner fills the radiator to the brim he is wasting his time. He is overlooking the overflow pipe into which the top layer of water spills when the car is bounced and the water is agitated.

the head to scrape the carbon and grind the valves press a plumber's force pump against the head of a piston, and attempt to move the piston up and down, as shown in the illustration.

Any appreciable motion indicates that either the wrist pin or connecting rod bearing is loose, and perhaps both.—Popular Science Monthly.

Jolts Show Trouble in

Delicate Instruments

Isn't it strange how the person who is bounced off the seat when the car goes over an uncharted hole in the road will be surprised when the ammeter, the oil gauge or the clock temporarily goes out of commission? Whenever the car has been over a particularly rough spot in the road and the instruments do not register properly, it is well to consider that their indicators, in the case of meters, may be slightly dislocated or thrown off their course, or that the hands of the clock may be stuck together.

AUTOMOBILE HINTS

There are 6,882,000 miles of highway in the world.

The average life of an automobile is six and three-fourths years.

Have the radiator contents checked at every stop for gas on the touring trip. The cooling job is exceptionally heavy.

It takes about 1,500 nuts to hold an automobile together, but it only takes one to scatter it all over the landscape.

Aside from the nation's highway bill, a total of $500,000,000 is spent annually for street construction and maintenance.

A bus 125 feet long is being built in a European factory instead of in Rhode Island in which case it would have been an interstate proposition from the start.

This morning, in assembly at Kingston High School, Principal Van Ingen awarded gold prizes to the following students: Miss Eva Clifton of 234 Downs Street, 19; Miss Betty Thompson of Woodstock, 35; and Miss Evelyn Shahan of 46 Franklin Street, 35. These prizes were offered by Frederick C. Winters of 331 Clinton Avenue for the best letters written by Juniors and Seniors of the high school arguing "Why Every Child Should be Encouraged to Study the Piano." The letter which won first prize, written by Miss Clifton, is as follows:

My Dear Mr. Winters.

Your topic is a very interesting one to discuss, for everyone realizes that all children should have some musical education.

Piano lessons give the child a knowledge of the basic principals of music. This knowledge helps the child in his music work in school because that which the teacher explains to a class has been explained to him individually. Sometimes a dull hour for a whole family may be brightened by a few piano solos. Invariably music has a soothing effect on people and is a good remedy for disagreeable thoughts. It tends to relax their nerves and create a pleasant atmosphere. When the child has learned to play the piano, whether he has advanced very far or not, he will have acquired a certain amount of knowledge which will make the study of another instrument easier. The study of piano tends to train the child's ear and his memory. It develops the muscles of his hands, making them stronger and more flexible. It awakens and stimulates his emotions. It provides a means of self-expression. It establishes the idea of forming habits. It forces the child to pay attention and concentrate. It develops his will power and mental ability. Often, during the course of his lessons, the child will be asked to sight read a piece of music and in order to do this, he must have a certain amount of independence, self-control, accuracy, responsibility, concentration and initiative. With the repetition of sight reading will come the development of these good points. He must also be able to think quickly, which is always a good policy. Moreover, one who has taken piano lessons is better able to appreciate another's playing. He learns to distinguish between good and poor music. Good piano players are always in demand and money can easily be earned by accompanying. One studies enough and has talent, he may become a concert player. This, of course, would bring a good salary. At school, church meetings and social gatherings a piano player is often in demand. Furthermore, he is usually popular since those who present are grateful for someone to play dance music, hymns or songs. This playing would, of course, give the person a certain amount of training in leadership which is a good quality for anyone to possess. The results of piano lessons show whether or not a child is musically inclined and whether or not he can make music his profession. The majority of the refined class of people enjoy music. Therefore if a child is musical and can play the piano, he will, in all probability, be brought into contact with a fine class of people. Music not only creates pictures in one's mind but brings forth a desire for high ideals.

For these reasons, I think that some piano instruction is essential to every child.

Yours truly,

EVA CLIFTON.

The judges of the letters submitted were Miss Ethel M. Hall, instructor of English in the high school and Leonard Stein, supervisor of music of the public schools of this city.
